WHY GIRLS LIKE ICE CREAM SODA.

LOCHINVAR REVISED.

The young Lochinvar rode in from the West,
With fringe on his trousers and fur on his vest.
His saddle was horrent with pistols and things,
And he flourished a handful of aces on kings.
EUGENE FIELD.

'Gene Field went on to say that "the fair Marianna sat watching a star, when who should turn up but the young Lochinvar? Her pulchritude gave him a pectoral glow; he reined up his hoss with stentorian 'whoa!'" He asked if he might not enter, and "with presence of mind that was wonderful, quite, the fair Marianna replied that he might." As a consequence young Lochinvar rode his hoss through the door, preempted the claim and cleaned out the bar."

Next morning "the Judge allowed he wasn't wholly to blame, but he fined him $10 and costs, just the same."

People in the East are now looking for the Lochinvar who is to come out of the West and capture the Speakership of the House of Representatives, now that Thomas B. Reed is out of the place for keeps.

The Sunday Post-Dispatch knows more about this matter than any other paper in the United States, because it had the energy to find out.

Next Sunday it will present an article which will be invaluable to persons interested in the nation's affairs.

In this country there is a State in which women office-holders, women lawmakers, have proved a success. No, it is not Kansas. It is a State in which 55,000 women once voted for a Governor. Three women there are helping make the laws, and it is conceded that for legal acumen and practical foresight they are equal to the best men in the legislature.

An interesting account of these women by a special correspondent will be a feature of the next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

There is in St. Louis a young woman who knows a greater number of people than any politician or other "mixer" in the State of Missouri.

She acquired her marvelous list of acquaintances in a peculiar way. She is known by sight to thousands who never heard her name.

She will tell the story of her unusual career in the next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

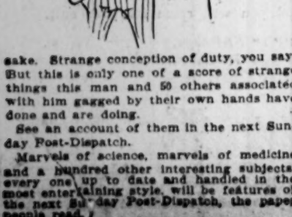

An unique church fight, one of the bitterest and most fiercely contested in the history of this country, will be fully set forth from the standpoint of both sides in the next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

An actress who gets a divorce usually considers herself lucky. But she is still luckier in the eyes of her rivals if she can marry a man with a barrel full of money. More than one American actress has charmed a man of millions. Gladys Wallis "cinched" a beautiful bunch of Chicago money the other day; but she is only one of many. The whole list, with the notable catches they have made, will be given by the next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

The most dangerous men in the world are guarded by women in an institution built by women.

St. Louisans have reasons to know that this saying is true, but they never stop to think about it. The matter will be brought forcibly to public attention by the next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

What would you think of a man if one were to say of him: "He has not spoken, except in monosyllables, for 40 years?" That is, he is able to speak, but has not done so for what he considers his duty's sake. Strange conception of duty, you say. But this is only one of a score of strange things this man and 50 others associated with him gagged by their own hands have done and are doing.

See an account of them in the next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

Marvels of science, marvels of medicine and a hundred other interesting subjects, every one up to date and handled in the most entertaining style, will be features of the next Sunday Post-Dispatch, the paper people read.

INSANE FROM STORM FRIGHT.

George B. Ward Killed Himself With Gas.

ALBERT HALL LOST HIS MIND.

PHYSICIANS CLASS IT AS "CYCLONE NEUROSES."

Causeless Apprehension Which the People of St. Louis Are Urged by Neurologists to Subdue and Control.

The thunder shower of Thursday, slight as it was, possibly led to the suicide of one man and intensified the insanity of an other. George B. Ward of 2912A Michigan avenue, frightened by the clouds and suffering intensely from a growing blindness, turned on the gas in his home, after locking all the doors, and died. Albert Hall of 2618 Eads avenue became violently insane just after the rain began about noon, and was taken to the City Hospital and placed in a cell preparatory to removal to an insane asylum.

The case of Mr. Ward is not of so much moment as is that of Mr. Hall, in that other features combined to make him seek his own destruction. His eyesight had been failing him for some time, and he was worried over the fear of losing it entirely. Besides, two years ago he was sunstruck, and since then his head had troubled him in hot weather. Fear of a tornado led him to go home about noon Thursday, warn his neighbors of one's approach, though no symptoms of one were in the skies beyond a few rain clouds, and close tightly all the windows of his own home. He then turned on the gas, laid down on the floor and died. His wife found his body about 4 o'clock, but he was dead.

Albert Hall was only released from the observation ward of the City Hospital a short while ago, but Thursday afternoon his wife requested that he be confined again, as he had become violent. He imagined that the lightning was striking him, and he showed various places on his body where he thought he had been burned. An opiate was necessary before he could be taken from his home.

Hall was in the tornado of May, 1896, and narrowly escaped severe injury. For a month thereafter the things he experienced that day were constantly on his mind. After a time he regained control over his feelings, but of late the old tendency to alarm has been strong again. During the storm of May 13 last, he was greatly frightened, and this state of nervous apprehension was intensified by the one of May 29. He slept little and brooded constantly.

On Decoration Day he started down town, but his family, as he became greatly excited over the rain, locked him up. He sprang out of a window and ran away, but was captured, and after a struggle was sent to the hospital. Lately he had become quiet and at his wife's request, Dr. Nietert gave him his freedom.

Hall had been watched closely, but his old state did not return until Wednesday. Then he became much excited and when Thursday's rain came up he was beyond control. The police took him to the hospital and he was replaced in his old quarters. He will be sent away, in the hope that a recovery will be effected.

These are two of the many cases of emotional insanity developed by showers or storms, as the direct result of the tornado of May, 1896. Physicians say that these cases are brought out now by the long strain of anxiety since that disaster. But some cases of pronounced insanity were the immediate result of that storm, more are becoming known in proportion as the years pass. The doctors explain this by saying that as persons rather arose to the emergency at that time, at the cost of intense nervous and mental strain, their vitality is now weakening and the effect of the high tension is telling on them. They become apprehensive whenever they see clouds in the sky; they are morbid and they dwell needlessly on the dangers, which are nearly always purely imaginative.

In regard to Hall's case, Dr. Nietert said that his mania was clearly attributable to his experiences in the 1896 tornado.

"On most topics," said the doctor, "Hall is perfectly rational. He will talk sensibly and fluently, but if the conversation is prolonged he will get around to storms and become insanely apprehensive. It is difficult to handle such a case, as no way of preventing the mania coming on with every storm is known, and, of course, the storms cannot be prevented. Rest, a change of scene and new occupations will help and possibly cure him, but there is always danger of a return of the symptons with a return to the old environment."

The best physicians are puzzled over the treatment of cases of "cyclone-neurosis," as Dr. Ludwig Bremer, the eminent neurologist, termed it in a pamphlet he issued six months after the big tornado. In that publication Dr. Bremer rather predicted the possibility of the future developing cases of this sort, and sought to point out the necessity of avoiding as many as possible by anticipating them. At that time it was too early to give details, so that he devoted most of his time to examples. It is his idea that apprehension should be avoided; that morbid fear is responsible for most of the trouble, and that a calm preparedness for the worst is the best state to be in.

In this, other doctors agree. One of them said Friday morning:

"Sensational publication of the unnecessary details of storms and the issuing of needless warnings of tornadoes every time there is a cloud in the sky cause more trouble in these cases than anything else. It is natural that persons who have passed through a terrible experience should dread its recurrence every time symptoms of it are seen. Men who have been in railway wrecks fear to travel or trains thereafter. The best remedy for the evil's existence is a cessation of talk about it, the obliteration of signs of it—the getting away from it, in fact.

"If you have a sore on your hand it will hurt you if you permit yourself to think of it all the time. If you don't, you forget about it. It's the same with a storm; cease to worry over it; it' coming anyhow and you only make it worse by dreading it. It is a mistake to know too much sometimes, and this is one of those cases where 'ignorance is bliss.'"

Dr. Arthur Mink thought that Hall was a neurasthenic, subject to delusions, and that change of scene might effect a cure. He knew of a number of cases similar to Hall's. He, too, believes that to keep stirring up and repeating tales and scenes of tornadoes was responsible for the continuation of the evil results.

The medical men agree on the fact that mania as the result of the 1896 tornado is more general now than it was at the time, but they explain it on perfectly reasonable lines, among others, that of the continual nervous strain which in the end causes the system to collapse. They advise those subject to insane fear of storms, who still live here after their experiences of 1896, to seek other surroundings if possible; to cease worrying over what has happened and may happen and to give their thoughts to what is going on now—to get their minds off the morbid and to the active plane. That, they say, is the true cure.

MEN WANTED TO HELP GEN. OTIS.

Missouri Asked as to Number of Its Volunteers.

RECRUITING AGAIN URGENT.

BUT THERE IS NO APPARENT RUSH FOR ENLISTMENT.

Thirty Thousand More Men Required at Once for Active Service in the Philippine Islands.

While the censored news from the Philippines tells of brilliant successes by the American troops under Gen. Otis, the War Department is straining every effort to secure enough men to make up the quota of 30,000 demanded by Gen. Otis.

Every recruiting officer in the country has received a telegram from the department, urging the rapid enlistment of infantry, cavalry, light and heavy artillery for the Philippine service.

At the door to the old Postoffice is a sign which says that 500 men are wanted at once for the Philippines.

Otis wants a fighting force of 50,000 men, exclusive of the troops that will be needed to garrison captured towns, which will bring the total up to 50,000 men, and experienced army officers say that number will not be sufficient. They predict that the President will be forced to call out at least 35,000 volunteers, a solution of the problem which he is very loath to resort to.

At the rate at which men are being enlisted in St. Louis it will require six months to raise the 1,500 men required from St. Louis.

One man was enlisted Thursday out of 15 applicants. There were only 12 applicants Friday, and the recruiting Sergeant seemed to have no hope that a majority of them would be acceptable.

The officers in charge of the station, Capt. Bailey and Lieut. Harrison, will not admit that there is any scarcity of applicants, and explain the few men accepted by saying that the examining surgeon, Capt. Owen, is extraordinarily severe.

They speak as though there was a grand rush to get into the Philippine service, but deserted halls outside the recruiting office do not bear out that impression.

A year ago, when there was a demand for men to go to Cuba, there were often as many as 200 applicants in one day. They crowded the halls and the pavement outside from early morning until late in the evening. They fought for places in the line. And it must be remembered that at that time there were three recruiting offices in St. Louis and all were besieged eagerly by men who were crazy to get into the army. Now if a dozen men can be found in the vicinity of the recruiting office, it is considered a crowd and everybody looks happy.

During five days only 14 recruits have been secured. They will be shipped to San Francisco Friday night.

One of the private soldiers attached to the station says flatly that men simply will not enlist for service in the Philippines. They have been frightened off by the reports of the unhealthy climate and the character of the enemy, and the kind of fighting going on there.

Of these who present themselves, he said, few are able to pass the rigid examination.

A good deal of interest has been aroused in militia circles by a message received by the Governor from Adjt. Gen. Corbin of Washington. The telegram requested information as to how many men Missouri could furnish in response to a call for volunteers. This has aroused a feeling among national guardsmen that they may yet have a chance to do some fighting.

Brig. Gen. Harvey L. Clark was expected in the city Thursday to begin the reorganization of the militia, but he did not show up, and is not now expected for a week at least.

HARDWARE TO GO TO HAWAII.

Honolulu Merchant Buying Goods in St. Louis.

W. W. Hall, the biggest hardware dealer in the Hawaiian Islands, is in St. Louis buying hardware and heavy goods for his Honolulu establishment. AN ALLEGED FORGER.

POLICE BELIEVE THEY HAVE MADE AN IMPORTANT ARREST.

MANY MERCHANTS VICTIMIZED.

The Man Who Was Arrested Has Been a Guest at the St. Nicholas Hotel.

The police believe they have the man who has been victimizing St. Louis business houses with fradulent checks.

At 1 o'clock Detectives Schmidt and Caudle arrested at the corner of Tenth and Pine streets a man who answers to the description furnished by the victims.

At headquarters, after a series of searching questions by Chief Desmond, the man gave his name as W. A. Barringer of St. Paul, Minn.

He is about 30 years old and was faultlessly attired. In his possession were found a card bearing the name "W. A. McDonald Newspaper Advertising Co.," a rubber stamp bearing the same legend and a large number of certified checks on the American Exchange Bank. The checks were for small amounts and all bore the stamped signature of the W. H. McDonald Co. and the same name had been indorsed on the back with a rubber stamp.

The police also found on him a number of letter heads and baggage checks, indicating that he had been stopping at the St. Nicholas Hotel under a different name. A letter from his wife was found, which was addressed to Mr. Allen, St. Nicholas Hotel.

The firms most recently victimized are W. F. Hammes, H. E. Holloway, tailors; the Kieselhorst Piano Co., the Shattinger Music Co. and the Guerdan Hat Co., and the S. G. Adams Stamp and Seal Co.

In each case the amount did not exceed $20, and in each case the check worked off on them bore the signature and indorsement of the W. H. Holliday Co. There is no such company at the address given in the Laclede building, and it is not known to the police.

The fraud in each case was worked by a purchase and a tender of a check of larger amount in payment. The victims are out the difference and the cost of the article purchased.

ROBBER IN A BOARDING HOUSE.

R. C. Buchanan Lost All His Clothes and Had to Send Out for Others.

Burglars made a nice haul Thursday night at the boarding house of Mrs. Mary Pierson, 1612 Washington avenue. No one could find where they effected an entrance.

R. C. Buchanan was minus most of his wearing apparel Friday morning.

It was about 5 o'clock when Mr. Buchanan woke. His hat was lying on the floor.

"I surely didn't put my hat there," he said to himself. Then he looked around the room. His coat, vest and trousers were missing. Also were a silver watch and chain and other valuables and a few dollars in cash.

Mr. Buchanan proceeded to console himself with the thought that he had another suit of clothes in a bureau drawer. But he didn't. The burglar had found them.

He summoned the porter. "Silas," said Buchanan, "ask Mrs. Pierson if she will borrow a pair of pants and a coat for me. Tell her I've been robbed."

"Gosh," responded the negro, "so have some of the other boarders. Mr. McClain, who has the room on the third floor, hasn't even got a necktie left. They made a clean sweep in his room. We are making arrangements now to have a tailor come to the house. Shall I send him to you?"

Mr. Buchanan said yes, and when the tailor came he got enough clothes to wear down town. He notified the police of the robbery and the police promptly and efficiently suppressed all news of it.

BLAND'S LIFE NEAR THE END.

Sinking Steadily Without Hope of Recovery.

UNCONSCIOUS SINCE THURSDAY

DISEASE IS PARALYSIS OR CONGESTION OF THE BRAIN.

He Cannot Speak and Has Recognized No One Since Yesterday—Judge Bland Arrives From St. Louis.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LEBANON, Mo., June 9.—Dr. James McCoombs, the senior of Mr. Bland's physicians, left his bedside at 11 o'clock and reports no appreciable change in his condition. He is growing weaker and sinking rapidly to the end.

Your correspondent solicited a statement from Mr. Bland's physicians as to the patient's exact ailment, but they refuse to state the specific trouble. Mr. Bland is in a stupor and has been since yesterday morning. He recognizes no one and can not speak. From the reports of relatives and intimate friends who are admitted to his bedside it is understood that the ailment from which Mr. Bland is dying is either paralysis or congestion of the brain. His family has anticipated for years that he would be stricken in this way. There is absolutely no hope for even a return of consciousness.

Judge C. C. Bland arrived this morning from St. Louis and was driven to the Bland home at 7 o'clock.

The patient seemed to be in little pain last night, and rested well, but this seeming improvement, the physicians say, was wholly due to the medicines administered. There was no real improvement.

THIEVES BRIBE THE POLICE.

Startling Testimony of Criminality Among Chicago Officials Before the Baxter Legislative Committee.

CHICAGO, June 9.—Ex-Justice Wallis, who retired from office last April, yesterday testified before the Baxter Legislative committee, that he issued between 500 and 600 warrants for the confiscation of slot machines, but he did not know what the constables did with them. He had heard that the constables who secured the machines, instead of destroying them, as ordered, shipped them to St. Louis and Kansas City. The raids on the machines were usually made late on Saturday night, when they were full of nickels. On one occasion thirty-nine machines were brought in containing $210 in nickels. The justice would not deny the report that he had made $12,000 in fees in the slot machine cases. Other witnesses testified that the constables for $2 a week, agreed not to molest the machines.

The committee also learned that the lake excursion boats were veritable floating gambling palaces, apparently under the police protection. The shell game was the favorite method of swindling. Gus Chapin, employed by the steamboats to solicit passengers, said he understood that shell workers and confidence men paid 40 per cent of their earnings for police protection. Chapin is regarded as the best "barker" on the lake front.

CHICAGO HOTEL FOR WOMEN

The Only Men About Will Be Porters to Do the Heavy Work.

CHICAGO, June 9.—Within two weeks Chicago will have a hotel conducted by women, and exclusively for women. A 10-year lease has been taken on the 100-room hotel building in Michigan avenue, known as the Richelieu annex, and for the last six weeks workmen have been putting it in condition for occupancy. When completed it is to be the home for Chicago business women and women travelers who stop over in this city. It will be called the Laurel Club Hotel.

Four women form the directory of the club, and will have full management. Women clerks will be employed, and the only men about the place will be porters and other servants to do the heavy work. Chaperons will be furnished for theater parties and outings, and twice a month an entertainment of a social nature will be given at the house.

STRIKE OF THE IRON WORKERS.

Four Hundred Men Quit Their Employment.

ONLY TWO PLANTS WORKING.

TRUST OFFICERS IN CONFERENCE IN NEW YORK.

Meeting of the Strikers, at Which It Was Promised the Strike Would Be Made Unanimous During the Day.

At union labor headquarters it is said that Friday night all of the architectural iron workers and shop men in St. Louis will be on strike. This assurance was given the workmen at a meeting of the strikers, held Friday, at their headquarters, 604 Market street. It was received with great enthusiasm.

Only two plants in the city have been working, the Northwestern Iron Works and the Excelsior Wire Rope Works. Part of the Excelsior men were at Friday's meeting. They said the rest would come out Friday evening. The Northwestern men have promised the strikers to do likewise.

The men of 10 shops are already out. These are the Koken Iron Works, Christopher & Simpson, the Union Foundry, Meeker Bros., the Aetna Iron Works, John Spuck, the Ludlow-Saylor Wire Co., the Globe Iron Works and Shurk Bros.

The number of men already out is 400. About 50 men are employed at the Northwestern and Excelsior.

The fight is declared to be between the American Federation of Labor and the trust, of which all of the St. Louis firms except John Spuck are said to be members. William Koken, who is Vice-President of the trust, left last Saturday for New York to confer with the other trust officers. Whether the fight is to be settled or is to be carried on, to the stoppage of all building operations, will be determined by the officers of the trust.

Mr. Koken is expected back Saturday, but he may not return before Tuesday. There will be no settlement until he returns. Three of the firms have expressed to the representatives of the strikers a willingness to comply with their demands, but they cannot do so without the assent of the officers of the trust.

The strikers keep committees on watch at all of the shops all the time. As soon as men are put to work in the strikers' places the committeemen talk to them, and almost without exception have persuaded them to join the union. A few men were reported to be working Friday at Christopher & Simpson's, Mesker Bros.' and the Union Works, but the strikers say these will come over to them.

President Fred Affolten said Friday: "The outlook is encouraging. The bosses did not at first understand that we were affiliated with and supported by the American Federation of Labor. Now that they see that this is so and that they have to deal with the national organization most of them want to comply with our demands.

"These are for eight hours' work, substantially the same wages as now, time and a half for over hours and double time for Sundays and holidays.

"We have been working 10, 12 and even 13 hours a day. For overtime we got only the same as for work during regular hours.

"The wages of iron workers have been raised all over the country. We simply demand what the others are getting."

The strikers meet every day on the second floor at 604 Market street. They have a general strikers' committee there from 9 to 5 each day.

President Affolten says that assurances have been received from nearly all of the allied building trades that they will go out Monday, following action by the Central Trades and Labor Assembly Sunday at Walhalla Hall.

TERRA COTTA WORKERS' STRIKE.

Employers Endeavoring to Fill the Places of the Strikers.

The employes of the Evans & Howard Fire Brick Co. at Cheltenham, who struck Thursday, are still out. At the offices of the company, 920 Market street, Friday, Secretary Jones said that no communication had been received from the strikers and the company had not been informed what their demands were.

About 250 unskilled men refused to go to work Thursday morning. The skilled workman quit an hour later, because they said they were afraid to continue. The laborers are said to want a 10 per cent raise.

The Winkle Terra Cotta Co., whose employes struck Wednesday for higher wages, are trying to replace the strikers with other men. A placard was posted Thursday calling for thirty men. The managers of the company say they will take back a few of the strikers, but the rest cannot return under any circumstances.

Policemen guarded the Winkle plant in Cheltenham Thursday night, but there was no attempt on the part of the strikers to do damage.

Mrs. Berkowitz, bruised about head.
Euell Stoker, Drexel, hurt in back.
Melville Stoker, Rock Vail, Kan., cut about head.

Two miles beyond Granview, a small station 30 miles south of Kansas City, the train was derailed by spreading rails, the track having been damaged by recent severe rains. The smoker, which contained most of the injured, and the chair car immediately following, were turned on their side into a ditch; the Pullman left the track, but remained upright. The engine and combination baggage and mail car remained on the track.

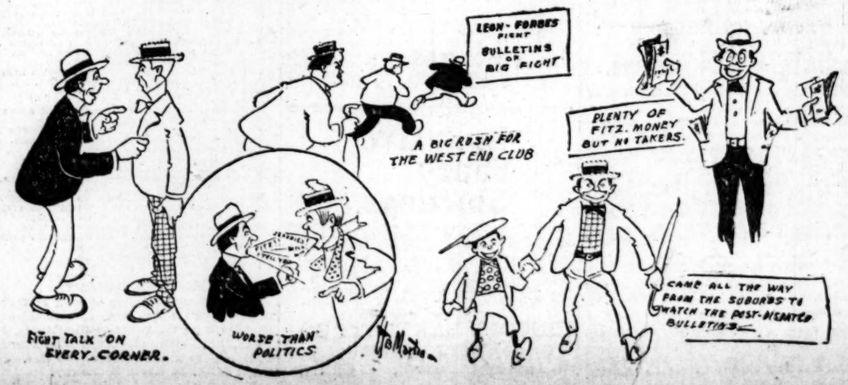

The accident occurred at 9:30 during a heavy downpour of rain. The crew went to work with a will to rescue the passengers and did heroic duty in the pouring rain and darkness. The women and children were first cared for. They were dragged from the windows of the chair car and attended to as well as was possible under the circumstances. Before all had been taken out of the chair car fire started from the stove in the rear end. The porter of the car earned great praise by his presence of mind in cutting a hole through the roof of the car, quenching the fire and rescuing several women in immediate danger.

In the smoker, which was well filled, passengers were compelled to crawl cautiously the full length of the car to the rear door to escape. Exit through the broken windows was dangerous, the darkness making it impossible to see a foot ahead. The scene of the wreck was in the woods, and there were no houses to which the injured could be taken. Torches were soon improvised and here and there in the darkness and rain, the dim lights fluttered in the hands of their holders, scurrying in every direction to render aid to the unfortunates. For the immediate care of the hurt, fires were built alongside the tracks, and lent aid to the rescuers and warmth to the rain-soaked injured.

Those most seriously hurt were cared for in the baggage and mail car and in the Pullman. As soon as possible word of the wreck was sent to Granview, and a relief train was started out from Kansas City. The train arrived at 3 o'clock a. m., and took back to Kansas City all of the injured. The most seriously hurt were conveyed to St. Joseph's Hospital, while those less badly injured went or were assisted to the Savoy Hotel.

All morning there had been rumors of a wreck, but officials of the railroad steadfastly denied that any one had been seriously injured, and that the total number of hurt would not go above 15 or 20, all of whom, they asserted, had received simple cut and would leave for the South on today's train.

WASHINGTON AVENUE AND SIXTH STREET. Mail Orders Promptly Filled.

PRETTY HARD ON MR. VOGEL.

He Can't Get In the House of Delegates.

MUST WAIT FOR A VERDICT.

TRIED IN VAIN TO GET A CITATION FOR CONTEMPT.

Judge Wood Held That Sheridan's Appeal Acted as a Supersedeas and Vogel Must Await the Action of the Court of Appeals.

William Vogel appeared before Judge Wood Friday and asked that John A. Sheridan and 16 other members of the House of Delegates be commanded to show cause why they should not be punished for contempt for refusal to comply with the court's order to restore to him his seat.

He alleged in his application that the defendants had wilfully refused to obey the order of the court made last Friday in a proceeding by mandamus and that the seat in the House of Delegates, from which he was ousted in favor of John A. Sheridan, was still withheld from him.

Vogel's attorney made a brief argument in support of the application and cited many cases, purporting to sustain a contempt proceeding.

Attorney Thomas Rowe for Sheridan and the members of the House of Delegates, contended that the appeal to the St. Louis Court of Appeals, perfected, as theirs had been, by an approved bond, operated as a supersedeas over the judgment of the lower court.

He cited two Supreme Court decisions in support of his contention, claiming that they covered the whole ground of the case at bar. They were: State at the relation of the Laclede Bank against Edward A. Lewis, reported in the 76 Missouri, and State at the relation of Hecker against Judge Jacob Klein. He said that the question of supersedeas of appeal over judgments in mandamus cases was decided explicitly in these cases in favor of the appeal, and that the contention upon which the applicant relied had long ago been overruled by the Supreme Court.

Judge Wood refused the application for citation for contempt at the conclusion of the arguments. He said he had examined the decision referred to by the defendants' counsel and was of the opinion that they undoubtedly interpreted the law to be that an appeal shall supersede a judgment in a mandamus case.

"I must confess that this is a lamentable condition," said the court. "The rule operates in a case like this one at bar very unjustly and closes up all avenues for relief until the time when it is needed has practically expired. Vogel has a good cause of action, but he can not be heard again until the Court of Appeals renders judgment in his case. It is a pity the law works this way, but it is not my province to remedy it."

The decision leaves Sheridan and his friends masters of the situation until the Court of Appeals passes on the case. There is a remedy left to Vogel, but it isn't probable he will pursue it. He may apply to the Court of Appeals for a mandamus, commanding Judge Wood to issue the citation for contempt against Sheridan and his friends. But the application would probably be refused on the same ground that Judge Wood refused the citation. The Court of Appeals would be compelled to overrule the Supreme Court in granting the application.

Vogel was disappointed at the court's ruling. He had not counted on a possibility of defeat in his case and was very wroth when the court refused him relief. He announced that he had a knife up his sleeve for his political opponents, and would use it at the first opportunity. He declared, however, that he felt he had enough of the law and would let his case drop unless his attorney should insist on prosecuting it further.

Attorney Thomas Rowe declared that further interference with his clients by the court was about the most improbable thing he could imagine.

KNEISLEY-COOPER WEDDING.

Marriage of the Representative from Carroll County.

Cards of invitation are out announcing the marriage on June 21 of Miss Hattie Scott Cooper to Hon. Russell Kneisley, at the home of the bride's father, Dr. John C. Cooper, at Carrollton, Mo.

Mr. Kneisley is the representative of Carroll County in the House of Representatives, and during the long session just closed, he made himself very popular among members and visitors to Jefferson City. He was an original Filipino, and has a picturesque manner of speech that never failed to win him attention when he addressed the House.

It was not known by any except possibly his most intimate friends, that he was to be married soon, and all those who knew him at Jefferson City will be interested in the announcement that his Filipino tendencies stand a good chance of being under pleasant restraint, and that he will bow to authority of "the speaker" the remainder of his days.

FRIENDS ASTONISHED.

WEDDING OF MISS WHEAT AND MR. PENDLETON.

LOOKS LIKE AN ELOPEMENT.

They Met at Columbia and Got Married Without Consulting Any One But Each Other.

A dispatch from Sedalia, Mo., says that Charles M. Pendleton, ticket agent for the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railway Company, at that place, and Exalted Ruler of the Sedalia Lodge of Elks, was married in Columbia Thursday night to Miss Emma Wheat of Kirkwood.

Miss Wheat was attending the commencement exercises of the State University, whither she went last week in company with Miss Jennie Pendleton, a sister of the bridegroom.

The marriage will cause profound surprise among Miss Wheat's friends, both in Kirkwood and St. Louis, where she is a society favorite. It was never announced to her closest friends, and it is probable that her mother was not apprised of her daughter's intention.

The marriage bore the earmarks of an elopement.

Mr. Pendleton is known to St. Louis society and his sister, Miss Jennie Pendleton, is one of the best known local society girls.

CIRCUIT JUDGES IN SESSION

They May Decide to Make No Appointment to Succeed Justice of the Peace Cramer.

The judges of the Circuit Court, the Probate Court and the Court of Criminal Correction went into executive session in the general term room at the Courthouse Friday afternoon to consider the question of appointing Justice of the Peace for the Fourth District to succeed Justice Haughton, who is holding over his term.

One of the judges, just before retiring to the session, said it was not improbable that the judges might decide not to make the appointment.

"Several of us have come to the conclusion that the decision in the Kramer case, declaring the statute under which the Mayor appointed Kramer unconstitutional, is broad enough to apply to the law under which we have planned to make the appointment.

"Of course, the law plainly gives us the authority to act in this case, but the propriety of appointing when it is almost certain the appointee will be ousted, may be questioned. We will consider all these points at the meeting, and the result may be a decision to keep our hands off the Fourth District tie."

Kramer still had the call on the appointment Friday, and was practically assured of the place if the judges should decide to act.

Judge Kramer was at the City Hall Friday morning seeking the whole strength of the city administration in his fight. He arrived too late to see the Mayor, but unbosomed himself to Norman Florscheim.

The Judge had a grievance against Geo. B. Sidener, his rival.

"He has been trying to knock me all around," Kramer excitedly told Florscheim. "He is circulating stories that I am wealthy and should not have the office. What difference does a little money make? I have done ten times as much for the Republican party in St. Louis as Sidener has."

Sidener appeared half an hour later, and he, too, sought out Florscheim. They had an earnest conversation for half an hour, then John B. Owen and Senator Shawacker joined them.

Kramer was hunted up and all adjourned to Cronin's to effect a reconciliation.

WARRANT FOR A POLICEMAN.

Officer John Murphy Charged With Felonious Assault.

A warrant was issued Friday charging Police Officer John Murphy with felonious assault.

Murphy shot W. E. Conlin, colored, in the leg in front of 2638 Baldwin avenue, April 18. Murphy claimed the shot was intended for another negro who was assaulting him. He had this negro arrested, but the case fell through.

Conlin says Murphy promised to pay the doctor bill, but failed to do so.

Murphy is the officer who obtained a judgment against Judge Murphy for imprisonment.

"RED CHRIS" PUTS BURDEN OF CRIME ON THE POLICE.

SLEEPY BURKE ON THE STAND.

He Describes How the Money of Old Man Schrage Was Wrested From Him by Street's Gang.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 9.—In opening his address in the trial of "Red Chris" Street, charged with complicity in the Schrage bond robbery three years ago, Attorney James T. Brady, for the defense, asserted evidence would be offered to show that his client was the scapegoat of the police to suffer the penalty that belong elsewhere, and that "Sleepy" Burke was the ring-leader of the band of robbers, who, when he saw the doors of the penitentiary opening to receive him, conceived the idea of turning States evidence and laying the charge to an innocent man, to which, in order to shield themselves, the police assented.

"Sleepy" Burke, the famous ex-safe blower, was the first witness called by the State. He told of going to Schrage's house with "Red Chris," Gordon, Baker, Hunt and James Muldoon.

Burke said that after the old man was bound and gagged, the bonds and money, aggregating $45,500, were taken and divided among the band. The bonds, he said, were subsequently fourned over to "Red Chris," who said that all that was necessary to receive dollar for dollar for the bonds was a little patient waiting.

"Sleepy" Burke now lives in New York. He presented a strange spectacle on the witness stand. He was well dressed and prosperous looking, but his testimony was given in a halting manner. He is afflicted with St. Vitus' dance, and his features became strongly contorted, and often he was unable to continue, during which time the proceedings had to be stopped.

Ex-Chief of Police Badenoch is on hand to testify, as are numerous other witnesses.

The stolen bonds were presented in evidence by the State, many of them being dirty and greasy from their long hiding in ash cans and under the counters of saloons.

THE NORMAN-HILBERT CASE.

Court of Criminal Correction Considering Whether to Place Miss Hilbert Under a Peace Bond.

The Norman-Hilbert "baby case" was docketed for retrial in the Court of Criminal Correction Friday. It was not reached at the morning session of court, but was taken up at 2 o'clock.

This is the case in which Miss Belle Norman, once a candidate for member of the School Board, seeks to have Miss Annie Hilbert placed under bond to keep the peace for six months.

Miss Norman and Miss Hilbert were neighbors on North Channing avenue, but they were not in the least neighborly.

One night a baby was left on the Norman doorstep. A policeman came around to make an investigation. Miss Hilbert, listening at a side window, heard somebody say that "the people next door" might know something about the baby. She thought Miss Norman said it. She is alleged to have made threats on the strength of it.

Miss Norman applied to Justice Kielber to have Miss Hilbert placed under a peace bond. The case was heard, and Miss Hilbert was placed under bond.

She appealed to the Court of Criminal Correction. The case was tried a month ago, but the jury could not agree, and another trial was necessary.

BULLET IN HIS BRAIN.

ROBERT RALSTON OF VENICE, ILL., SHOT HIMSELF.

HE WAS INSANELY JEALOUS.

If He Should Recover He Will Be Totally Blind, as the Bullet Severed the Optic Nerve.

Robert Ralston of Venice, Ill., shot himself through the head in his own home at 10:30 o'clock Friday morning, and is now lingering at the point of death in St. Elizabeth's Hospital there. Even if he recovers he will certainly be blind for the rest of his life. Jealousy of his wife is the cause.

Robert and Birdie Ralston were married about three years, and during that time all has not been pleasant between them. He was given to drinking, and he had an insane idea that every time his wife spoke to another man he must resent it. They quarreled over this frequently, and the neighbors generally sympathized with her. Only three weeks ago Ralston secured the arrest of another Venice man, who, he declared, had insulted his wife. Mrs. Ralston was fond of going to parties, and Ralston took her, only to become enraged when she danced with other men.

For two or three days Ralston had been drinking heavily, and two nights he stayed away from home. Friday he went back, but showed the effects of his debauch. He went into a front room, approached his wife from behind, embraced and kissed her, saying "good-by." She wondered at this, but before its true import struck her, Ralston had run to the kitchen door, drawn his revolver, placed the muzzle to his right temple and fired.

The ball went through Ralston's head just back of the eyes, destroying the optic nerve and his sight. It then ranged across and lodged in the left jawbone. He fell to the floor across the doorsill, bleeding freely.

The neighbors heard the shot and Mrs. Ralston's screams and rushed to her aid. Dr. W. H. Grayson was called and he had Ralston taken to the hospital, just back of which he lived. There everything was done for him, but his chances for recovery were admitted to be extremely slight.

Mr. Ralston is only 28 years old and his wife is two years younger. She is a tall brunette, rather pretty. She insists that Ralston had no cause for his jealousy.

Racing

Is the sport of the masses, yet most enjoyed by those having a financial gain or loss in each dash. The very uncertainty makes it fascinating. We do not think, however, that you would like to buy your clothes on this basis. A fair weather horse, as you know, sometimes makes a mistrable showing on a muddy track. So it is with clothes. They may appear ever so fine when you look at them in the store, but how will they look after a little wear or if exposed to the elements? You cannot carry a glass case around for yourself. That's where the honestly constructed, built-on-honor clothes of our store show up strong. And yet we sell our superior merchandise at a less price than you have been paying for sweat-shop work.

As a proof of this, look at our truly wonderful showing of Serges. Where else on this earth can you buy a $12.00 quality suit at $8.50, or those $12.50, $14.00 and $15.00 grades at $10.00? Some of these $10.00 Suits are silk or satin faced, if you please.

We told you before about that lot of suits comprising Cheviots, Cassimeres and Worsteds, not a suit in the lot worth less than $10.00, and some as much as $15.00. To clean up this lot (we still have all sizes) we name for to-day's and to-morrow's selling at

If you are economical, or if you are not, you will come for your suit.

GOOD CHANCE TO SEE FIGHTING.

Urgent Need of More Men for the Army.

TO SERVE IN PHILIPPINES.

GEN. OTIS SENDS A MESSAGE TO THE WAR DEPARTMENT.

He Must Have Soldiers as Quickly as Possible to Take the Places of Volunteers Whose Enlistment Term Has Expired.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Men who want to see fighting in the Philippines will have a chance to gratify their desire.

The War Department has sent the following order to recruiting stations throughout the United States:

"Make all enlistments you can—infantry, cavalry, light and heavy artillery—for the Philippines. Select men. Urgent."

This order is the result of a cablegram from Gen. Otis, in which he tells the officials here that he must have men to supply the places of the volunteers whose time has expired.

The advices from Gen. Otis account for the unusual activity displayed at the War Department, and busy times are in store for the 75 recruiting officers throughout the country. The regular army is far below its maximum strength, and the orders to recruit were sent out at the direction of the President.

After the dispatch from Gen. Otis was received there was a conference between Acting Secretary Meiklejohn and the President, at which orders were given to recruit the army to its maximum strength. It was denied at the War Department that this exceedingly significant dispatch was received, but it is known on indisputable authority that it was not only received, but was the subject of the conference between the President and Secretary Meiklejohn. Gen. Otis also advised the War Department that the time had not yet come to enlist native troops, although about 200 Maccabebees have been enlisted, who will be used as scouts.

It is estimated that it will require from 15,000 to 20,000 men to hold the country after it has been taken, making a total of 60,000 troops for the Philippine service, which, conservative army officers say, is not enough. This will undoubtedly necessitate calling out 35,000 volunteers, which the President is reluctant to do.

VOLUNTEERS AS REGULARS.

Plan to Retain Seasoned Soldiers in the Philippines.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The Cabinet, in connection with the possible necessity of enlisting a force of volunteers, to-day discussed a plan for the enlistment of several skeleton regiments in Manila from among the volunteers who desire to remain in the service, and the subsequent filling out of these regiments with recruits enlisted in this country.

Gen. Otis will be given the authority to select the officers of the regiments from the volunteer officers who are to be mustered out. This would form a nucleus of of veteran officers and men, seasoned to the climate and familiar with the work to be done. Such a force, leavened with veterans would be immeasurably superior to raw recruits, undisciplined and unacclimated. The Attorney-General announced his opinion that the army reorganization bill fixing the maximum strength of the army at 65,000, did not include the enlisted force of the hospital corps, about 2600 men, so that the enlisted force can be increased by that number.

The Ladies' Missionary Society of the People's Church will give a Japanese tea party Friday night at the residence of the pastor, Rev. J. M. Spencer, 4031 Page avenue.

A pleasant feature of the evening will be the christening of a new baby which came to Rev. Spencer's house several weeks ago. Rev. A. F. Carr, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, will officiate at the christening, and Dr. M. T. Boyd will deliver an address.

Following this interesting ceremony there will be a musical programme and refreshments. Interest is added to the whole affair by the fact that the scene will be on the lawn of the Spencer residence. Rev. Spencer will leave soon for Winchester, Va., where he will pass a vacation of two months.

CUPID WAS AT QUARANTINE.

George Schultz, Patient, and Miss Gerbig, Waitress, Will Wed.

The pesthouse is the latest campaign ground of Gen. Cupid. As a result of his vigorous assaults upon the hearts of George Schultz and Miss Sophie Gerbig, their wedding is announced for Saturday.

Schultz was a smallpox patient at the quarantine and Miss Gerbig a waitress. When Schultz was convalescent they met and loved. Schultz was discharged Wednesday, and on that day the young woman resigned. She is now with her sister, Mrs. Ours at Broadway and Kansas streets and Schultz is at the Victoria Hotel, waiting for the time of the ceremony.

TEXAN LOST MONEY AT CRAPS.

Thomas Coleman of Marshall Caused Arrest of Gus Ellis.

A warrant charging grand larceny was issued by Col. Johnson, Assistant Prosecuting Attorney, against Gus Ellis, alias "Sheeney Joe," Friday morning.

Thomas Coleman of Marshall, Tex., stopping at the Benton Hotel, was the complainant, and his tale was simply a repetition of the old story. The game Coleman "bucked" was craps, and his experience cost him $50. Detectives McKenna and Hagaman arrested Ellis on the description furnished by Coleman, and the latter succeeded in identifying him.

FOR WORKING GIRLS.

ST. LOUIS WOMEN INVITE THEM TO A SUMMER HOME.

AT MARTHA WOOD COTTAGE.

On the Payment of a Small Sum Rest and Recreation Can Be Had at Upper Alton.

The Women's Christian Home of St. Louis has leased the Martha Wood Cottage, the girls' dormitory connected with Shurtleff College, Upper Alton, for a summer rest home.

The women of the Christian Association connected with the home in St. Louis for the past three years have made it a practice to obtain some pleasant situation where they could receive the working girls of the city on their summer vacation. Previously they have had this home at the hotel in Nashville, Ill.

They intend to take any working girl who may apply and keep her as long as possible, or until her vacation is over, at the lowest possible rates.

The girl making application for admittance to the Rest Home will go to the headquarters of the Women's Christian Association at Eighteenth and Washington avenue, where, on the payment of $5, she will be given a ticket to Upper Alton and

In past years this enterprise has been quite pleasing to the working girls, as many as 100 having been received during the summer.

The home will open June 19 and close Sept. 1. It is expected that Mrs. McDearmon of St. Louis, a lady interested in the work of the association, will be the matron.

BRIDE'S CARRIAGE WRECKED.

Suburban Car Gave Miss Caroline King a Shock Just Before She Became Mrs. Ambler.

Just before the wedding of Miss Caroline King to Mr. Arthur B. Ambler at Kirkwood Thursday the carriage that was to carry the bride to the church was wrecked by a Suburban car. One of the horses was so badly injured it will probably be shot. Adam Arras was the driver. There was no one in the carriage at the time of the accident.

Miss King was leaving Mr. John Goode's residence when the collision occurred. She had a good view of it, and was naturally much shocked. She and her party had to wait until another carriage could be brought to take them to the church.

A DEWEY ADMIRER HONORED.

Young Leslie Allen Laflin Carried Off the Gold Medal at St. Vincent's.

Leslie Allen Laflin was the happiest boy in St. Louis Thursday. Although only 12 years old, he was graduated from St. Vincent's Seminary and now wears a gold medal, appropriately engraved, showing that he attained the maximum percentage in all studies in the boys' class. Last year he won a similar medal.

Next year, if all goes well, he will enter St. Louis University.

At the exercises Thursday he not only carried away the honors in the boys' section, but took the leading part in the literary features and the drill conducted by Capt. Johnson, U. S. A., stationed at St. Louis University.

Young Laflin hopes eventually to enter Annapolis. He is an enthusiast on naval affairs and is a worshipper of Dewey. A few months ago he sent the Admiral his picture, with a letter, and in return received a note from the Manila hero, a fac-simile of which was published in the Sunday Post-Dispatch, April 2.

Leslie Allen Laflin lives at 5307 Bartmer avenue. His grandfather was Sylvester H. Laflin, well known to the commercial world as a powder manufacturer.

POLICE AND REPORTERS.

They Will Play Baseball on Sunday in Forest Park.

A policeman of uncertain weight and beauty walked up to a reporter one day last week and said:

"See here, you fellows are too hard on us. Now all we ask is a chance to get back at you. If we can't do anything else we may show you how to play ball."

The challenge was promptly accepted.

The reportorial ball tossers were picked from the staffs of the various St. Louis newspapers without regard to age or experience. No condition was imposed, but each has been cautioned not to offend Chief Campbell's braves by rolling up too many runs.

Most of the police nine has been selected around the Four Courts.

Roscoe Shaw, the expert police stenographer, will perform the honorable though unenviable duty of captain.

Charles Jones, private secretary to Chief Campbell, has volunteered to cover first base. As he has been practicing with the sphere in Indiana for the last week, we may expect Charlie to do some creditable work next Sunday.

The battle ground will likely be Forest Park, though the newspaper men fear that is too near the Mounted District Station.

Mayor Ziegenhein has promised to be a spectator and a delegation of South St. Louis Turners will be present to root for the punch pushers.

The umpire selected is Mr. Herman Bader. He is the only person who will be allowed to go armed.

Mr. Barney Frauenthal well act as official scorer.

The game will start sharply at 10 o'clock. No one should miss it. The teams will line up as follows:

Lieut.-Commander C. A. French.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Lieutenant-Commander Charles Atherton French, U. S. N., retired, is dead at his home in Brooklyn. He was born in Maine 78 years ago and entered the navy as a volunteer in 1863. He had been retired since the close of the war. His widow survives him.

POKER GAME RAIDED.

IT WAS BEING CONDUCTED AT THE IMPERIAL HOTEL.

A SORRY LOT OF GAMBLERS.

Even the Proprietor of the Hotel Was Included in the Persons for Whom Warrants Were Issued.

A sorry lot of gamblers and what gamblers call "suckers" appeared in the First District Police Court Friday morning in consequence of a raid on a big poker game at the Imperial Hotel Thursday night by Detectives Kelly, McKenna, Dowdall and Hegeman. The prisoners were all well dressed and had money, but the chances of their being mulcted in large sums was great, hence they were sorry. There were eight in the party, and each took a continuance to June 17.

But the greatest sorrow consequent upon the raid is in the breast of Proprietor Thompson of the Imperial. Chief Campbell instructed the detectives to apply for a warrant for the Imperial's proprietor, charging him with setting up and maintaining a common gambling house. Mr. Thompson was not arrested. He said dolefully:

"I knew this was coming. I knew it long ago, and I warned them several times not to play. Why, I fell out with several people because I did not want them to play poker in my house.

"I don't think they played oftener than three times a week. The game was run in one of the two rooms numbered 116, which were occupied by Dr. Fraley and Pat Donovan. The game was conducted in the inside room, which has no windows."

It is surmised that all of the men arrested gave fictitious names, except John Goode. A warrant was issued against Goode charging him with keeping a gambling game.

Shortly after the prisoners departed from the Four Courts Patrick Cullity, whose home is at Sand Hill, N. Y., called on Chief of Police Campbell and stated that he had lost $200 in a faro game at the Imperial Hotel on Wednesday night. Cullity is a traveling man, 26 years old. He is stopping at the Lindell Hotel. He stated that a man, who is a gambler, approached him at the Lindell Hotel and offered to introduce him to a faro game at the Imperial. Cullity went with the man and lost $200, all the money he had. Cullity said $5 was returned to him. He returned to the Imperial Thursday night to play again, but arrived after the raid. He now says he will remain in the city as a witness for the police.

While Proprietor Thompson says the gamblers did not play oftener than three times in a week, they certainly played once too often. It appears that Mr. McKenna, detective with "smooth" proclivities, ingratiated himself with the careful gamblers and was allowed to sit in the game Thursday night.

About 10 o'clock the other detectives rapped on the door. McKenna exhibited his star, grabbed the stakes and cards and then opened the door.

The card players were taken to the Chestnut Street Station in a patrol wagon.

HE IS COMING TO ST. LOUIS.

Rev. Howard S. Macayeal to Be Pastor of Central Congregational Church.

Rev. Howard S. Macayeal of Omaha, Neb., has decided to accept the call which he received Thursday to the Central Congregational Church of St. Louis.

A dispatch to the Post-Dispatch from Omaha states that this was the second call Mr. Macayeal received during the last two years of his pastorate at Plymouth Congregational Church in Omaha. The telegram notifying him of the call from Central Church stated that he had been selected by a unanimous vote.

In view of the fact that Mr. Macayeal had never preached in Central church and that the call came entirely on the strength of his record, he felt highly complimented.

Lawn Party.—The Columbian Club entertained its members Thursday evening at an informal lawn party, the first of a number that are to be given during the summer. The club's spacious grounds at Lindell boulevard and Vandeventer avenue were prettily decorated with parti-colored lights. Vocal and instrumental music was rendered and an informal dance followed the midnight luncheon.

From Mrs. Vaughn to Mrs. Pinkham.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 64,587]

"DEAR FRIEND—Two years ago I had child-bed fever and womb trouble in its worse form. For eight months after birth of babe I was not able to sit up. Doctors treated me, but with no help. I had bearing-down pains, burning in stomach, kidney and bladder trouble and my back was so stiff and sore, the right ovary was badly affected and everything I ate distressed me, and there was a bad discharge.

I was confined to my bed when I wrote to you for advice and followed your directions faithfully, taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Liver Pills and using the Wash, and am now able to do the most of my housework. I believe I should have died if it had not been for your Compound. I hope this letter may be the result of benefitting some other suffering woman. I recommend your Compound to every one."—MRS. MARY VAUGHN, TRIMBLE, PULASKI CO., KY.

Many of these sick women whose letters we print were utterly discouraged and life was a burden to them when they wrote to Lynn, Mass., to Mrs. Pinkham, and without charge of any kind received advice that made them strong, useful women again.

WILL TAKE UP EDWARDS CASE.

Judge Withrow Has Abandoned All Hope of a Reconciliation Between the Man and Wife.

Judge Withrow has decided to continue the hearing of the Edwards habeas corpus case to June 19. He announced this determination Friday after he heard arguments by the attorneys for the applicant and the respondent.

Edwards' attorneys filed affidavits showing that their client had obtained a position at a salary of $65 a month in Fort Worth, Tex., and had prepared a home for his wife, as he had agreed to do. They declared, however, that she refused to accompany him to the home according to her agreement.

Mrs. Edwards' attorneys, on the other hand, introduced letters from Edwards and his father indicating that the applicant was not acting in good faith in preparing a home for his wife, his only object being to entice her to the jurisdiction of the Texas courts, where he will begin a proceeding for contempt against her.

Judge Withrow declared that there was little probability of the parties effecting a reconciliation if they were so suspicious of each other.

"I am convinced," said he, "that it will be just to proceed with this case and render my judgment on the evidence. I would like to see an amicable settlement, but the time of this court will not be wasted in waiting for it. I have no hope of such a result, and the only thing for me to do is to continue the hearing."

THE BRADFORD WILL CASE.

Contest for the Estate of a Rich Man Is Now On.

The suit against Jessie L. Boogher and others to set aside the will of the late Charles H. Bradford, deceased, is on trial in the Circuit Court at Clayton, where it was taken on a change of venue.

Bradford was a well known millionaire. He died April 21, 1898, at the age of 77 years. He was a widower and had no children. The plaintiffs in the case are: Caroline B. Ryan, Lillian B. Sherbern, Cora N. Bonham, Pauline Gowdy Beltz, Mary A. Gowdy, Lillian Baker Huntington and Beulah Baker. The defendants are: Jesse L. Boogher and Howard A. Bloomm, as executors of the will; Samuel Cupples, Thomas Metcalfe, Alfred, Charles and Margaret Bradford, Virginia B. Higgins, Mary Janes, Kate Young, Rebecca Baker Moffitt, Lucy, Hugh, Charles and Alfred Baker, Eliza J. Chalmers, Amanda C. Morgan, Mrs. F. C. Youlin, Kate Herrick, Sophia Herrick, Ada E. Blossom and Methodist Orphan Home Association, and James F. Bradford.

Charles H. Bradford executed a will Nov. 11, 1897, leaving $10,000 to Samuel Cupples and Thomas Metcalfe for the purpose of erecting a memorial to him; $105,000 to other legatees, among whom were the defendants in the present suit, and the remainder of his fortune, estimated at $350,000, to the Methodist Orphan Home Association.

The principal grounds on which the suit is based, are contained in the allegations that Bradford was of unsound mind at the time of making his will, and that he made another will naming the Union Trust Co. as executor.

A tollgate controversy has been started in East St. Louis. Justice McKane will pass upon the merits of the case. George Eckert, George Hassler and others made a test case by driving over the road and refusing to pay toll. For this they were arrested.

MAY GO TO THE PENITENTIARY.

John Good Charged With Running a Common Gambling Game.

Detectives Kelly, Dowdall, McKenna and Hagaman continue to raid gambling houses.

Since they have had this assignment they claim that not a single game in St. Louis has escaped their vigilance. Thursday evening they swooped down upon a poker game in the Imperial Hotel and arrested eight men. Seven were sent to Police Court Friday morning and a warrant was issued against the eighth, John Good, charging him with keeping a common gambling game. This charge is only made when the accused has been in the hands of the police before.

The police claim that Good has been connected with various gambling enterprises for 15 years. The minimum punishment assessed on this charge is three years in the penitentiary.

SCHURMAN AND OTIS AT OUTS.

President of Philippine Commission Will Resign.

CRITICISED BY THE GENERAL.

TELLS M'KINLEY THAT THE PROFESSOR IS IN THE WAY.

That He Does Not Understand the Situation of the Islands and That His Presence Interferes With Military Plans.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—President Schurman of the Philippine Commission will resign on his return to the United States because of the friction between himself and Gen. Otis.

Admiral Dewey hastened his departure from Manila, it is now believed, because of the friction in the commission. He had steadfastly declined to leave his post before, and his determination to return was sudden.

In a telegram to the President yesterday Gen. Otis severly criticised President Schurman's policy, put himself on record as being opposed to President Schurman longer interfering with the campaign in the Philippines. He plainly told the President that Mr. Schurman did not comprehend the situation, apparently cannot realize it, and that while Prof. Worcester and Col. Denby are in accord with the commanding general, President Schurman has persisted in adopting a course which they did not approve.

The two other civilian members of the commision will remain in the Philippines, but President Schurman has announced his determination to return to the United States in July. This determination was sudden.

Rumors of friction between Gen. Otis and Presiden Schurman reached this country several weeks ago, but were promptly denied, both by the State Department and by Secretary Alger.

The President will uphold Gen. Otis, regarding him as in a better position to judge the situation than is President Schurman. The friction was caused by President Schurman's desire to treat with the rebels, even though they admittedly had no authority to treat.

Gen. Otis declined to participate, holding that nothing but a vigorous campaign would ever quiet the Filipinos and restore peace. It is now asserted that President Schurman was responsible for the entertainments given the Filipino emissaries when they were treating for peace.

President Schurman will visit Iloilo, Cebu, Negros and other islands to gather information of value to the President, which he will submit with his conclusions, as an individual, not as President of the Philippine Commission.

It is probable that the official explanation for Schurman's retirement will be that he did not care to remain away longer from Cornell University.

HANNA BARELY MISSES DEATH.

Street Car Nearly Strikes Him on the Eve of His Departure for Europe.

CLEVELAND, O., June 9.—Senator Hanna was yesterday running for a West Side car, and did not notice a cable train coming around the curve. The grip car, one of his own line, barely missed striking the Senator. Street car employes said that the escape was miraculous.

Senator Hanna will leave Cleveland for New York to-morrow. At the Waldorf he will be joined by Mrs. Hanna, Miss Ruth Hanna, Miss Lucia McCurdy, his niece, and Miss Phelps. Wednesday the party will sail to Aix Les Baines, the famous French watering place, where Mr. Hanna will undergo treatment for rheumatism. In two months he will return home by easy stages, reaching America about Sept. 1, in time to take part in the fall campaign in Ohio.

OLD OFFICERS SATISFACTORY.

Only Two Changes Made at the Modern Woodmen's Election.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 9.—With two exceptions the Modern Woodmen of America has re-elected the present national officers. Frank H. Crocker of Chariton, Io., defeated H. E. Ernst of Nevada, Mo., for the office of Head Banker by a vote of 215 to 108. George E. Jenkins of Nebraska succeeds F. R. Van Slyke of Madison, S. D., as Head Escort.

The list of prohibitive occupations was revised. It was decided to permit glassblowers whose work is confined to fruit jars and lamp chimneys to join the order. An attempt was made to allow professional baseball players to receive the insurance benefit, but it failed to get the support of the delegates. Professional football players were forbidden admission, but the line was not drawn against amateurs.

EVANS WILL RETAIN OFFICE.

Grand Army Votes Down a Resolution Demanding His Retirement.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The effort of pension attorneys to secure removal of H. C. Evans from the office of Pension Commissioner is undoubtedly a failure. The department encampments in Illinois, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania have voted down the resolution calling for his retirement, and Gov. Barnes of Oklahoma has written an exposure of the way in which the Grand Army organization of the territory was misled into passing the same resolution. Prominent Grand Army men of New York resadiate similar action at Syracuse.

Dreyfus Does Not Know His Persecutors.

SAILS FOR FRANCE FRIDAY.

MANY ARRESTS OF ROYALISTS MADE IN PARIS.

Lieut.-Col. Picquart, One of the Heroes of the Dreyfus Trial, Has Been Provisionally Released From Custody.

PARIS, June 9.—Dispatches from Cayenne, French Guiana, say that Dreyfus will leave for France to-day on the cruiser Sfax. The reported conversations of the prisoner with the French officials indicate that he has not been apprised of the conditions now existing in relation to his case.

Dreyfus believes that Gen. Boisdeffre is his friend, and that it is to the efforts of this officer mainly that he owes his coming freedom. The truth is that Boisdeffre has been relentless in his persecution of the Captain. Dreyfus has not been apprised of the changes in the Ministry, and believes that Boisdeffre is still Minister of War. He has written a long letter to the General, thanking him for his efforts in his behalf.

Several conflicts between the friends and enemies of Dreyfus occurred in Paris last night, but they were suppressed by the police. Many arrests have been made.

There is considerable talk of a change in the Ministry.

In the Matin Esterhazy reaffirms the statement made by him in London that he himself wrote the bordereau.

Next Tuesday is the date set for the trial of Count Christiani upon the charge of attempting to assassinate the President of France.

The royalists are alarmed at the arrests made on charges of plotting treason against the Republic. Many titled persons are leaving Paris.

The Duke of Orleans, who was said to have been in Paris last Sunday, is reported to be at Genoa to-day. His followers expect his return here.

PARIS, June 9.—Lieut. Col. Picquart has been provisionally released from custody. Picquart is one of the real heroes developed in the Dreyfus trial. As head of the spy service, he aided in the condemnation of Dreyfus, though the falsity of the evidence was concealed from him. When he discovered it and the real traitor he notified the staff, and was punished with exile. Returning, he persisted in dragging the truth to light, and was imprisoned. Doubtless he would have been murdered like others but for the forethought of that daring speech in court. Through it all he has been bold, strong, fearless, calm, in a mob of frothy weaklings and base intriguers.

LOUBET TAKES NO CHANCES.

Rigorous Measures Taken to Protect Him at a Race Track.

PARIS, June 9.—At a cabinet meeting held this morning, Premier M. Dupuy and the Minister of War, M. Krantz, announced that Gen. Zurlinden, the Military Governor of Paris, and the Prefect of Police, M. Blanc, had adopted rigorous measures to preserve order at Longchamp, on Sunday next, upon the occasion of President Loubet's visit to that place in order to witness the race for the Grand Prix de Paris.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., June 9.—Mrs. Nellie L. Montgomery, plaintiff in a damage suit for $11,000 against Colomen Lawrence for slander, is under close surveillance because of a threat to murder Mrs. Lou Montgomery, who testified against the plaintiff's character during the trial in progress here.

When court adjourned for recess yesterday Mrs. Montgomery arose from her chair with her eyes blazing and said in a tone loud enough to be heard by those around her, including several of the jurors: "I will shoot that woman; I will kill her."

VILLAINIES OF A TRUST.

STANDARD OIL STOPS AT NOTHING TO GAIN ITS END.

RUINS MEN, ENDANGERS LIFE.

Agent Who Had Twelve Years Experience in the Detestable Service Lays Bare Its Methods.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The investigation of the Standard Oil Co. by the Industrial Commission is not only unveiling the power it uses to crush out competitions and to hoodwink and gauge the public, but is laying bare direct villainies by which men have been sent to poverty and death and their families to the poorhouses, and the lives of customers have been daily placed in jeopardy; this to say nothing of adulteration of product and of flinching by deceit. The methods of the trust were yesterday presented in a vivid manner by the testimony of W. H. Clark of Newark, O., who for 12 years was connected with the company at various points in Ohio.

He testified that while he was in charge of the Urbana, O., office, a young man named Helmick sold his farm and invested his money in oil. Clark told of his own efforts and of those of other agents of the Standard to get him out of the business.

He went to Helmick's house one night with Standard agents from other cities and they threatened Helmick with cutting prices to a ruinous degree. Helmick's wife sat on the stairs outside of the room and cried while they were talking to her husband. Finally Helmick was driven out of the business, and he went to the poorhouse.

While Clark was in charge of the business of the Standard at Newark, O., a troublesome competitor named Donaldson came into the field. Clark told how the Standard manager at Columbus, Mr. Matthews, told him that he could have a two weeks' vacation with pay if he would get Donaldson out of the business. He tried underselling, but Donaldson stuck. He went to the man who owned the small building, which Donaldson had rented to store his oil in, and bought it. Then he got a gang of men together at a cost of about $1 and some drinks, broke the lock off the house, threw out Donaldson's oil, loaded the house on a dray and hauled it off. After this Donaldson quit business.

Clark told about how he was instructed when he first went to work for the Standard at Marietta, O., to sell eight different brands of oil out of two tanks. He said the same system was followed at the places in Ohio at which he was employed. The Standard made three different varieties of oil, but they sold nominally eight grades, and if oil was selling at 10 cents a gallon and a customer wanted a 15 cents grade he could have it out of the same tank that the 10-cent oil was taken out of.

For a time Clark was in the Columbus establishment, where business was carried on in all kinds of oils. He said that when customers wanted boiled linseed oil they were sold raw oil which had been heated and mixed with Japan dryer. Miners' lamp oil was also made by mixing cottonseed oil with miners' stock, and various kinds of oil were supplied by simply marking the names asked for by customers on the heads of barrels of the same kinds of oil which were kept in stock with blank heads.

Commissioner Livingston questioned Clark as to whether he could not produce some written instructions from Matthews or some other agent of the company as to the manipulation of lamp tests, which he had testified to, and other details. He replied that he could not; that his instructions were always given verbally, and that care was evidently taken not to put any such instructions in writing.

KRUGER MUST YIELD.

ENGLAND MEANS TO PROTECT THE UITLANDERS.

THREATENS TO USE FORCE.

Chamberlain Has Dispatched a Virtual Ultimatum to the Transvaal Republic.

LONDON, June 9.—If the London newspapers properly reflect the purpose of the British Government, President Kruger of the Transvaal Republic must do one of two things without any further halting. He must redress the grievances of the foreign residents of the Republic or fight the British nation. Mr. Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, in his speech in the House of Commons, announced that his reply to the petition of the Uitlanders, which had been held back pending the result of the conference at Bloemfontein, would now be presented to the Transvaal.

This reply is believed to be in the nature of a practical ultimatum. The resources of diplomacy are regarded as exhausted with the failure of the conference. Nothing is left, it is felt, but a recourse to force.

The Standard, which reminds the Transvaal that its independence is not absolute, but is contingent on a faithful execution of the agreement stipulating equal rights for all white inhabitants, says:

"We now demand that all Englishmen resident in the Transvaal shall be treated with justice, and President Kruger may rest assured that the whole country will support the Government in any measures required to make this demand effective."

The London newspapers all refer to the dangerous situation.

The grievances of the foreigners (the Boers call them outlanders) in the Transvaal are that they cannot become citizens until after a residence of twelve years; that they have no vote in levying the taxes and that they are compelled to pay nearly all the taxes; that they are burdened with monopolies, and generally made to feel that they are aliens, who have no rights that the Boers should respect.

WANT THE LOCKS REMOVED.

Land Owners Along the Illinois Sue the Government.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BEARDSTOWN, Ill., June 9.—The land owners and residents of the counties adjoining the Illinois River are becoming thoroughly aroused in their demand for removal of the Government locks at Kampsville and Lagrange. Arrangements for a convention of protest are being made to be held at Whitehall within a week or so. It is expected that Senator Cullom will be present and deliver an address, and also the Congressmen who represent the different districts that are adjacent to the river. At a later date a convention will be held in this city at which time prominent speakers will be present.

It is estimated by the river valley people that some 60,000 acres have already been damaged by the Kampsville locks. The land owners fully realize the danger that will be incurred when the drainage canal is opened next fall and immediate action must be taken. Suit has been brought by the people of Greene County against the Government for damages to their property. Congress will be asked to act upon the question favorably toward the residents of the great Illinois Valley.

FLOOD FATAL TO MANY.

TWENTY-FIVE PERSONS DEAD IN TEXAS WATERS.

LITTLE OF MENARDVILLE LEFT.

San Saba Is Also Submerged and Miles of Wheat Fields Have Been Destroyed.

AUSTIN, Tex., June 9.—Reports which are slow in reaching this city show that no less than 25 persons have been drowned by the high waters of the Colorado. Menardville has been partially destroyed by the flood. Fourteen residences and several business houses were washed away and two persons who were caught in the torrent were drowned. Many were forced to swim from the town.

At San Saba, two sisters, the Misses Wells, were drowned and six others are known to have perished.

All of San Saba is under water. The river there is a mile wide and rising. Miles of wheat fields are submerged.

Hundreds of head of cattle and horses have perished in the sudden rise. The corn and cotton crop losses in the overflowed bottoms of the Colorado and its tributaries will aggregate $100,000.

HAVANA, June 9.—More attempts are being made to forge certificates of service in Cuban army and another man was arrested yesterday on this charge. It will probably be necessary for the paymasters to stay there for several additional days.

SPORTS OF THE DAY

GOLDEN ROD STAKES.

TULLA FONSO SURPRISED MANY BY WINNING IT.

GOOD DAY FOR JOHN HUFFMAN.

Two of His Horses Were First Past the Post in Thursday's Events at the Fair Grounds.

The Golden Rod Stake, the feature of the Fair Grounds racing Thursday, was won by John Huffman's filly Tulla Fonso.

For some unknown reason the form students did not consider Fonso as in the race at all.

Had it been a fast track she would have undoubtedly been a red hot favorite but in the sloppy going it was thought her chances were very slim.

The bookies laid 2 to 1 against her when the betting opened but when they found that she had no backers the price advanced to 4 and 5 to 1.

Banish and Sir Gatien came in for most of the play. Banish ran well considering where he got off but Sir Gatien is not partial to that kind of going and was out of the race the whole way.

Frost received a running start with Fonso and before the horses had covered a furlong he was five lengths to the good. Conley who rode The Pride went after Fonso and caught her at the half mile. The Pride had however, used all his speed to catch the leader and was unable to hold his position. Lee Bruno tried to head off Fonso but could not get near her as she drew away from the bunch and won handily by two lengths.

Lee Bruno nosed Banish out for the place. Banish ran the best race. He got off last behind the bunch, worked up to a good position and finished strong.

El Derim, one of the Cahn string, was favorite in the first race and won handily. Thorpe who rode the winner was slow to get away but soon made up the lost ground and galloped away from his field. May Forbes was second and Little Will third. The latter will run well in soft going.

Will Darden's colt Trombone spreadeagled his field in the second race. Trombone was off fourth, but was much the best and ran over the others. Pat Morrissey was favorite in this race, but ran a very poor race. The big horse was off in front, but seemed to be stale and showed no speed whatever. He is going back. Trombone was 6 to 1, while Pat Morrissey was 7 to 10.

Apple Jack, the favorite, was pounds the best in the third race, and led the whole route. He was off poorly, but went to the front and was never headed. He outclassed the others. Rushfields, who was second, was last into the stretch, but finished very strong.

Woodtrice won the juvenile event in a gallop. The booklee laid 7 to 1 against the Van Studdiford colt. He was much the best in the sloppy going. Shillingburn and Hackmeister, the first and second choices, did not like the heavy track and ran poorly.

BIG OUTING AT FERN GLEN.

That Is What the Junior Members of St. Leos Will Give on July 4.

The junior members of St. Leo's Conference of the St. Vincent de Paul Society have made arrangements for an outing at Fern Glen, Mo., on July 4. It will be a patriotic celebration. All the parish societies will take part. A meeting of the parishioners was held in St. Leo's Hall last evening, John J. Collins presiding. Jos. Woodruff acting as secretary and Rev. J. J. Harty as treasurer. A programme was outlined, embracing foot racing, high and broad jumping, hop, step and jump, putting the shot, single and double skiff races, swimming and diving contests, etc. The amusements will consist of good fishing, boating, bathing, dancing and excellent music. Ten gold medals have been donated and will be awarded to the successful athletes. The ladies of the parish will serve dinner on the grounds. Trains will leave Union Station at 9 a. m. and 1 p. m. and return at 5 p. m. and 8 p. m. The round trip has been placed at the popular price of 50 cents.

in the ring of the West End Club boxing for the bantam-weight championship of America.

They are due to go twelve rounds and they promise to be the fastest twelve rounds ever seen in St. Louis.

President Haughton gives his word that the contest will be commenced at 8:30 p. m. sharp and that there will not be a delay of a single minute.

More interest is felt in this match than any that has ever taken place in St. Louis, and the betting on it is very brisk, even money being offered on each man.

THE TRAP SHOOTERS.

Cloudy and Threatening Weather Interferes With Them at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 9.—Shooting in the State tournament was resumed to-day. The weather is cloudy and threatening.

The important events of the day were the Buffalo Audubon Club event at 550 targets, entrance fee $5; a handicap open to all, and the New York State event (Dean Richmond trophy) at live birds, entrance $20. All of the best teams of the State are entered.

The general average prizes have not been figured yet, but the New York City Challenge Cup and the gold watch offered by the Audubon Club go to F. D. Kelsey, who broke 460 out of 500 targets.

The second prize was won by McMurchy, who broke 457 out of 500.

FOR WORLD'S HONORS.

FITZSIMMONS AND JEFFRIES TO MEET THIS FRIDAY NIGHT.

CARDS FROM THE TWO MEN.

Each Declares Himself a Certain Winner and to Be in the Very Pink of Condition.

The Fitzsimmons-Jeffries fight will take place this Friday evening in the arena of the Coney Island Athletic Club, commencing at 9:30 New York or 8:30 St. Louis time.

Fitzsimmons will have for his seconds Dan Hickey, Yank Kenney, Jack Everhardt and Martin Julian.

Jeffries' seconds will be Tommy Ryan of Syracuse, Billy Delaney, Jim Daly and Jack Jeffries.

The timekeepers will be Al Smith for Jeffries and Lou Houseman for Fitzsimmons.

George Siler of Chicago will be the referee.

The men will weigh: Jeffries, 206 pounds; Fitzsimmons, 170 pounds.

In the betting Fitzsimmons is the favorite at 2 to 1, but in some places only 10 to 7 can be obtained against the champion.

The fight is to be conducted under Marquis of Queensberry rules, to be of 20 rounds' duration, and for a guaranteed purse of $25,000.

It is hinted that Fitzsimmons is to receive 60 per cent of the purse, win or lose, and a large percentage of the gate receipts, which will amount to nearly $200,000, but that part is not given out for publication.

It is also hinted that if the fight should last 20 rounds and the referee is unable then to pick the winner that it will be continued.

Such a contingency as this, however, is unlooked for, as it is the general opinion that the fight will be a very fast one, and that it will not last over 10 or 15 rounds.

All sorts of opinions as to who will win the fight have been published and two of them which are in direct contrast to each other and which come from men who know both principals well, will be found worth reading and are presented below:

Tim McGrath, who trained Sharkey and a dozen other successful pugilists, is regarded as one of the shrewdest judges of fighting form in California. He thinks Fitzsimmons will surely win against Jeffries. He says:

"Why, this big fellow couldn't whip poor Joe Chovnski. He couldn't even beat a dub like Bob Armstrong last summer. Now, how is he going to do anything against the champion? Improved? Well, suppose Jeffries has improved, which I don't much believe, he hasn't got a chance to whip Fitzsimmons. If he stands off and spars he will be up against it. If he rushes, Fitz will slip inside his guard with a short-arm jolt, and the boilermaker will be through fighting.

"You don't hear any of these wise guys talking Jeffries, do you? They are all for Fitz, every one. It's only the people who always pick out the short-ender to win a fight who are picking the big fellow."

John L. Sullivan says: "I pick Jeffries, on account of his superior weight and strength and because he is nearly 10 years younger than the other fellow. At the very best, Fitzsimmons is giving the other man 35 pounds and I can hardly see how he is going to get around that handicap. I look for Jeffries to win inside of ten rounds and if it goes beyond that I look for him to win, anyhow."

Just before the battle the rival gladiators are resting on their oars and Friday will be a day of idleness for them. They have been in training now nearly two months and can well afford to take the rest that is afforded them to-day. Never before have two men trained more conscientiously for a championship battle and never before have two big men faced each other who appeared so evenly matched. True, Jeffries enters the ring weighing many pounds more than his opponent, but Fitzsimmons' greater experience, cool head and admitted ability as a first-class pugilist is expected to more than overbalance this advantage which Jeffries holds over him in the matter of weight. Even the best judges of boxing in America are at sea on the question as to which man is going to win. Corbett, Sullivan and other once great fighters say that Jeffries will be the victor, while McCoy, Sharkey and other experts pick Fitzsimmons as a sure winner.

Latest From New York.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 9.—The sports wore satisfied smiles last night. Their only fear for the big fight at Coney Island to-night that there might be no decision was removed.

Patrons of boxing and promoters of pugilism were in great glee, and the change of front made by Chief of Police Devery was the cause.

All believed implicitly that a greater power and a stronger pull than State Senator Dry Dollar Sullivan could bring to bear had been at work.

To Hugh McLaughlin of Brooklyn was attributed Chief Devery's altered views.

The change means everything to the boxers and the club conducting the contest, John L. Sullivan says: "I pick Jeffries, on account of his superior weight and strength and because he is nearly 10 years younger than the other fellow. At the very best, Fitzsimmons is giving the other man 35 pounds and I can hardly see how he is going to get around that handicap. I look for Jeffries to win inside of ten rounds and if it goes beyond that I look for him to win, anyhow."

The Chief of Police still insists that he will not permit a prize fight. He will be present to see that there is no "slugging," but he most wonderfully has modified his views of what may constitute a contest for points. Now Chief Devery concedes that even in a scientific bout a chance blow, accident, extreme heat or over-exertion may result in a knockout, and Fitzsimmons and Jeffries are to have latitude in accordance.

The men who have paid for seats and the boxers are content. They think it quite probable that an accident of the kind Chief Devery has considered will happen. Those who have bet on the fight have not the least doubt that they will get a decision. Quietly the tip has gone round that all is settled. The championship battle will be fought and there will be no police interference.

The men are matched to box 25 rounds under the provisions of the Horton law. If present arrangements are carried out the boxers will face one another at 9:30 p. m.

From the hour the match was made until the present writing Fitzsimmons has been a decided favorite over Jeffries in the betting. While few bona fide large wagers have been made on the result, considerable money has been bet at odds ranging from $100 to $50, $100 to $70, with the Fitzsimmons men laying the odds. These will probably be the prevailing odds at the club house to-night. There is plenty of Jeffries money in sight, and it is possible Fitzsimmons' supporters may be able to do a little better at the ringside.

George Siler, who will referee the bout, has consulted with Fitzsimmons at Bath Beach and Jeffries at Asbury Park since his arrival in this city. Siler explained to them his interpretation of what is meant by a "clean break" called for in the articles of agreement. Both expressed satisfaction with the rules as laid down, and agreed with the referee that in the breaks the men should step back a pace. Siler was pleased with the results of his interviews with the men, and predicted the fight would be a clean one and that the best man would win.

It is understood a conference will be held at Coney Island this afternoon between Fitzsimmons and Jeffries and their managers, Julian and Brady, and Referee Siler, during which the rules will be discussed and every point clearly defined.

The arena of the Coney Island Sporting Club is ready for the fighters and the big crowd that is expected to-night.

The following signed statements from the principals in to-night's contest explain themselves:

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

On the eve of my fight with Fitzsimmons I am ready to enter the ring and face Fitzsimmons. I am in superb condition, as the physician who examined me to-day, will say, and I am fit to fight for my life. If I lose it will not be for lack of training.

But I don't mean to lose. I am certain that I will defeat Fitzsimmons. I am faster and stronger than I ever was and I am not afraid of those famous wallops.

When I enter the ring to-morrow night I will surprise the crowd and I will surprise my opponent. When I leave the ring I will be champion heavyweight of the world.

JAMES JEFFRIES.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

On the eve of my fight with James Jeffries I can truthfully say that I was never in better condition. I was examined by a physician this afternoon, and he declared me physically perfect.

From the very first I have believed that I had one of the easiest contests of my whole pugilistic career before me, but that has not caused me to neglect anything in my course of training. I have worked as hard as I did at Carson or for any of my other important battles, and really believe that I am better prepared than ever before. I was certainly never more confident or in higher spirits. I admire Mr. Jeffries' grit and know him to be a deserving young fellow, but he has undertaken a little too much. He must bite the dust, just as Corbett, Maher, Hall and all the rest of the ambitious ones did.

It is said that my age is likely to tell against me. That is ridiculous. I am only 27 years old, my habits have always been good and I feel at least ten years younger than I am. Those who profess to think I will be whipped are blinded by desire to see it turn out that way. I advise my friends to bet on me, no matter if they do have to give odds of 2 to 1. They will see me at my best, and they know what that is. There has been much talk about the title of champion going to an American. I was not born in this country, but I have adopted it. I reside here, my children were born here, and all my money is invested here. I am as good an American at heart as any man and a good deal better than a lot of cheap alleged sporting men who are continually harping on my nationality.

ROBERT FITZSIMMONS,
Champion of the World.

Tim Hurst at Fitz's Quarters.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Tim Hurst, the well-known baseball manager, visited Fitz's training quarters this morning.

Tim solemnly poked the champion in the ribs and grunted approvingly because it felt like prodding the side of a steam boiler.

"You'll do," said Hurst.

"Do you know," said Hurst, "I can't find a bean of this Jeffries money they talk about being around so thick. Friday a chap says to me 'I've got a friend who wants to bet $250 against $200 on Jeff.' 'Don't let him suffer,' I says. 'I'll take it.' 'All right,' says he, 'as soon as I get the $250 from my friend I'll telephone you and you'll know you're on.' I'm still waiting for the ting-a-ling.

"I hear a whole lot about Jeffries money, but I can't find it."

"Paper says Connie McCoy bet a thousand last night," said an unsophisticated visitor.

"Must have punched his meal ticket for the thousand," chuckled the champion.

Jeffries Leaves for Old Coney.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Jeffries and his party left Allenhurst on the 9:16 train for New York this morning. He will go to a roadhouse on the Coney Island boulevard to remain until time for him to start for the ringside.

Where They Play.

Cincinnati at Brooklyn.
Cleveland at New York.
Washington at Philadelphia.
Pittsburg at Baltimore.

The St. Louis Club lost the last game of their series to the Phillies by a score of 8 to 4.

Rain came up at the end of the sixth inning and Umpire Burns called the game.

When the game was called both pitchers were up in the air and the opposing batsmen were knocking the cover off the ball.

Sudhoff pitched for St. Louis and held the Phillies down for two innings. Then they began to hit the ball all over the diamond. In the six innings played 13 hits were made off him.

Fifield, the Phillies twirler, was up in the air when the game was called, and would probably have been batted out had the game not been ended when it was.

Jesse Burkett was not feeling well Thursday and after he struck out he retired from the game in favor of Blake.

Jake Stenzel played a star game. He made three pretty drives.

Wallace did not have much work to do, but accepted every chance without an error.

The team left Philadelphia for Chicago Thursday night, where they play the Orphans on Saturday.

Heidrick has been a victim of boils, but his work has been first-class, and he has never even as much as hinted that he would like a few days' lay off. It requires lots of courage for a ball player to slide and take other chances with his body decorated with boils. The average man will devote his individual attention to one of Job's comforters and call to his assistance the services of his wife, aunts and other female relatives. He warns you off when you approach him, and threatens you with vengeance if you so much as touch "that boil." Just imagine Heidrick throwing himself head first at a bag, or making a plunge along the ground to stop a ball. It gives one the shivers in this sultry weather to think of his sensations.

Sunday's Game at League Park.

The game at League Park next Sunday between the Sporting News and Maltoon clubs promises to be one of the most hotly contested games played in the semi-professional ranks this season. The Maltoons have a clean record, winning every game they have played this year. They will pitch their deaf mute in Sunday's game, who allowed the Sporting News last season but two hits.

THE PRESIDENT AND THE OFFICES.

Last Tuesday afternoon the President of the United States, the chief magistrate of one of the greatest nations on earth, spent nearly two hours listening to arguments concerning a few cheap census offices worth $600 or $700 apiece.

While this was going on the Secretary of War, who had gone to the White House to consult the President on grave business of State, cooled his heels in the anteroom.

Had the President the faintest trace of humor the gross absurdity of the situation must have struck a laugh out of him—a laugh followed, perhaps, by an expression of disgust.

Plain men who know nothing of "practical politics" have conceived the notion that the head of a great nation should stand on the bridge and direct the movements of the ship of state and never go below to boss the stokers. But this is an error. What would be out of keeping with the dignity and character of a Commodore or Captain in the navy is "quite the proper thing" for the President of the United States. He is responsible for the safety of the ship, but he must also give his personal attention and time to the disputes of the coal heavers.

This is "practical politics." And the best of the joke is that the President seems to like it. With him "politics" ranks with policy; else why does he break down the civil service rules set up for his protection and take part in the squabbles over the "offisses?"

A share in the World's Fair will be a share in the greatest event of a decade. No St. Louisan should miss an opportunity to subscribe or wait for an invitation to do so.

POLITICS OR COMIC OPERA.

At this distance it is impossible to decide whether the royalist demonstration in Paris last Sunday was a political outbreak or an advertisement of a comic opera shortly to be produced.

Powder Puffs Castellane, the ex-champagne opener, appears as Prime Minister in the Court of the exiled King Henry, who crosses the Belgium frontier in an automobile, makes his way swiftly to Paris and mounts his throne. The head of the automobile syndicate is destined for the Ministry of Finance. Patticlam is to be King's Jester or Master of the Revels, Count Christiani rams the President's hat down over his ears and is rewarded for his valor with the command of the army. Powder Puffs' wife becomes arbitress of fashion and first lady of the bed chamber. She immediately procures a decree abolishing the nasal, and American-French is proclaimed as the court language, which is also to be taught in the schools to all the little frog-eaters. When the King is firmly seated on his throne the "patriots" celebrate in a merry-go-round composed of Dion's automobiles, Lady Powder Puffs being elevated to the highest seat and Patticlam officiating with his gorgeous imagination. Dreyfus, Loubet and Zola look on through a peep-hole in the fence, the author muttering, "Jackuse" under his breath.

These are some of the incidents. It seems more probable than the theory of political conspiracy.

Best Paying Municipal Undertaking.—The waterworks of the city of Manchester, England, is the best paying municipal concern in the world, producing an annual net profit to the city of $1,000,000.

STABBING A BRAVE MAN.

In pursuance of the clique conspiracy to belittle Admiral Schley's services in the Santiago battle and to damage his reputation in the minds of the people some Republican papers are printing a dialogue alleged to have taken place between the Admiral and Lieut. Hodgson on the bridge of the Brooklyn.

The purport of the dialogue is that Admiral Schley, while the Brooklyn was yet four or five miles from the Spanish ships, ordered Lieut. Hodgson to turn to port with the intention of running away from the enemy and persisted in the order, although the maneuver endangered the Texas. The inference is that Admiral Schley was guilty of cowardice.

But before weight can be given to this innuendo its authors and abetters must explain how it happened, if the Brooklyn ran away, that she received 10 times as many shots as any other American vessel in the engagement, and, according to the naval experts, delivered the most effective fire and inflicted more damage on the enemy than any other vessel.

These malicious backbiters must explain how it happens that in no official report is there any intimation of cowardly or unskillful conduct in the handling of the Brooklyn, but her maneuvering was praised by experts, including all the Spanish commanders, who described the Brooklyn's maneuvering as beautiful and so effective that it completely turned the tables on themselves. They also give the Brooklyn the chief credit for the destruction of their ships.

The Brooklyn was in the fight from start to finish, more in it during the entire time than any other vessel, and the scars she received and inflicted on the enemy should preserve her gallant officers and men from the stabs of envious malice.

Great fortunes have been made in St. Louis real estate. It is paying handsome profits now. As the city grows real estate increases in value. Under the stimulus of the World's Fair the growth will be rapid and the increase in real values will keep pace with it. Real estate owners, therefore, will merely make excellent investments when they assure the success of the World's Fair by liberal subscriptions. They will richly gain on every dollar. No real estate owner can afford to turn away the Subscription Committee without a good subscription.

THE GOVERNOR AND THE MONOPOLISTS.

Speaking of his expected action on the street railway monopoly bill Gov. Stephens said to the Post-Dispatch representative yesterday: "At first I was much disposed to veto it. It looked like a trust proposition and you know I am always glad to hit a trust when the opportunity offers. The friends of the bill saw that the fight would be made against the approval of the bill on the trust issue, and have been piling arguments in upon me to prove that there is no trust about it."

There was no news in Gov. Stephens' statement. The Post-Dispatch warned him of the kind of "arguments" that would be piled upon him to make it appear that a monopoly was not a monopoly. It was well known what the "arguments" of the friends of the bill would be, what the sources of the arguments were and who the friends of the bill were.

The same friends of the bill convinced legislators that a bill legalizing a monopoly was not a monopoly bill. They piled the same arguments upon the legislators that they are now piling upon the Governor. They came from the same source—Fourth and Olive street and 222 Wall street. Why does not the Governor frankly tell what the "arguments" are and who are the friends of the bill piling them upon him?

The Post-Dispatch knew that the Governor was disposed in the beginning to veto the bill. He was disposed to veto the bill at 12 m. on May 25. Let him tell why he did not follow his good impulse and veto it. It was a great temptation to gain the honor of doing a great service for the people and of defeating the robber purposes of a monoply syndicate.

A man yields to the strongest temptation. Let Gov. Stephens tell what was the stronger temptation which was held out to induce him to throw aside this great opportunity to serve the people in order to do the will and serve the greed of monopolists?

Gov. Stephens cannot deceive the people by this sort of "guff." He cannot blind their eyes to the truth. The people know that millions of dollars of monopoly spoils are dependent upon the Governor's signature to the bill. They know that the stocks and bonds to cover the spoils are ready, that the plans of the monopolists are fixed, that the financing of the monopoly deal has been arranged in the back offices of bankers and brokers, and that the trust promoters are anxiously awaiting the stroke of the Governor's pen to realize on the deal.

Gov. Stephens would as well get the credit of frankness by confessing what are the magical "arguments" that have so affected his vision that a trust proposition no longer looks like a trust proposition. The proposition is the same as when it came hot from the hands of the lobby. The change is in him. Let him tell how the change was effected.

Wriggling and juggling with words will not enable Gov. Stephens to evade this issue or to dupe the public. If he signs the street car monopoly bill the people will know why he signed it.

The duty he owes his party is to veto this monopoly bonding scheme.

How is it possible for Gov. Stephens or any other intelligent being not to recognize the fact that a consolidation of street railways in St. Louis would put the passengers completely at the mercy of the railway?

The Pacific Coast biscuit trust did not collapse. It failed in course of formation. As for the trusts that are fully formed, they will die hard. The people will have to deliver the coup de grace in their case.

Senator Mason should be fully supported in his fight against impure food. In this effort to benefit his fellow-beings he more nearly resembles Lincoln than does his pretentious colleague, Senator Cullom.

The Missouri office seeker is not lacking in the persistence which has made the Ohio man famous. These two patriots are not at any time hiding their lights, however feeble those lights may be.

Gov. Tanner regrets having aided in an attempt to rob Chicago of her streets. Gov. Stephens would undoubtedly regret any similar action.

The long list of gold seekers who have died in the Klondike is growing. The Klondike trails lead to death oftener than to gold deposits.

Between "benevolent assimilation" and "judicious modification," Mr. McKinley is having a rocky time.

The tobacco trust has smoked out the St. Louis leaf jobbers, who would now as lief fight trusts as eat.

Dave Henderson is a loud singer, but he will scarcely be expected to warble from the Speaker's chair.

Census Director Merriam should have a stenographer on hand when he converses with Missouri Congressmen about spoils.

If Miss Birdie Allendale could be induced to sing a duet with Dave Henderson, there would be a great time in the old town of Washington.

Before grumbling at our rainy days, let us remember the scorched and parched Easterners. On the whole, Missouri has had an ideal spring season.

There are old buildings that nothing can destroy, and the old depot in East St. Louis is one of these. Fire and the tornado have both failed miserably in their attempts upon this antiquated structure.

The Missouri outfits that are seeking to prevent a fair census are not so much desirous of a partisan and untrustworthy enumeration as they are to get jobs. They are evidently not so prosperous as the improved times would suggest.

AMERICAN WOMEN MAY PRESIDE OVER ROYAL SISTERS IN COUNCIL

This is a picture of Mrs. Mary Wright Sewall, who is the leading candidate for the presidency of the International Council of women. Mrs. Sewall is an Indianapolis woman, deeply interested in educational work. She has blue eyes and prematurely white hair, is a charming hostess, a superb housekeeper and a perfect letter-writer. The International Council has many names of royal and titled women on its rolls abroad. If Mrs. Sewall is elected she will succeed Lady Aberdeen.

FAMILY GRAVEYARDS.

There are no large cemeteries in China. Every family has its own graveyard, as spacious as possible, and thus a large part of the best land is given up to the dead, the worship of whom is the first principle in Chinese religion.

WHY SHE STAYED AT HOME.

GENTLE SPANIARDS USE THIS SCREW.

This picture illustrates the use of the up-to-date thumbscrew in torturing Spanish prisoners of to-day. A railway porter of San Martin who recently had this instrument applied to him lost the use of his hands and arms.

SHE LAUGHS AT RIDING PLOWS.

A Kansas paper says: "Miss Mahalay Bartlett went to Osawatomie last Friday and after taking in the ball at the asylum, returned a day or two later with her father, who has been confined at the asylum for the past ten weeks. She reports a grand time. By the way, Miss Mahalay has dragged the stalks down, plowed, harrowed and planted about 30 acres in corn this spring, and has harrowed most of the corn since it came up. The plowing was done with a walking plow. She has no use for a riding plow and laughed at the idea of a man using one."

DISTRESSING.

She stood before her glass and sighed,
She had not found her first gray hair;
Her curling lashes sadly drooped
And two big teardrops trembled there.

The maid had not been crossed in love,
Her heart had not been rent in twain;
No wrinkles marred her smooth, fair brow,
No coming crowsfeet gave her pain.

But in the speeding car the maid
Had met the richest of her beaux—
She looked into her glass and saw
A streak of soot upon her nose.

THE BRIDES OF JUNE.

THE purple pansies nod their heads
In rapture uncontrolled,
There gleams from out a hundred threads,
The daisy's heart of gold;
Sweet William, pinks and mignonette
Yield fragrance night and noon,
Tiptoeing lilies anxious fret
To glimpse the brides of June.

Then on the bush beside the gate
A bud from sleep awakes,
With feverish haste that scarce can wait
The bloom from bondage breaks;
The royal rose, heraldic of
True hearts that beat in tune,
Outstretches petal arms of love
To greet the brides in June.

ENCOURAGING.

AN EXPENSIVE WATCH.

"Take a drink, boy," said my old chum, O'Hagan, "and I'll tell you about my great raffle. My, my! warn't old Davy Jones hostile over winning that watch!

"I landed in Salt Lake City one Saturday night, dead broke. I'd been prospecting along with Jerry Nolan down on the Boulder, and we'd had blarsted bad luck. Well, walking away from the Salt Lake City railroad station, who should I run into but old Swan, the barber. He was mighty glad to see me, was Swan, having heard I was dead. After he'd given me a good grip, says he—

"'O'Hagan, come round to the shop, I've your gold watch for you.'

"'How'd you get it? Last I remember about the old ticker, Cameron of the "Stars and Stripes" gave me $50 worth of poker chips for it and won back the whole of them on the next hand!'

"'Cameron, he's dead,' says Swan, 'and before he died he sent for me, and, saying where he'd probably next draw cards they wouldn't bother about time, he gave me the watch, and told me to give it back to you. He said he knew you'd git broke again, and show up in Salt Lake City.'

"'How can I get cash for that watch? I'm flat and entire broke.'

"'I'll fix it,' says Swan. 'We'll get up a raffle for to-night at my shop. I can sell 50 tickets, at $1 each, long before 9 o'clock.'

"He did. And that night we drew numbers—not in the barber shop, but over the road in the 'Stars and Stripes' saloon.

"It didn't take us long to draw numbers, and the crowd was all-fired mad when Swan cried out, Davy Jones he'd won the watch. For old Davy Jones was the onriest white man in Utah—mean, slippery and all-around unpleasant to rub shoulders with. I were madder than anyone else, because Davy Jones once licked me clean out of my half of a claim we took up in partnership.

"Well, the boys they all allowed the raffle had played us a dirty trick, and they made up their minds to queer Davy Jones' luck. And they did. First, Tom Myers, he shouts out:

"'Boys, the winner of this val-u-ble watch has asked us all to drink with him!'

"Davy Jones tried to git away, but seeing that Tom Myers was primed to cut or shoot, thought he'd better make the best of a bad bargain.

"As drinks were 25 cents each in those days, and the crowd counted up over $90, that drink all around cost Davy Jones $30 in hard cash. Davy paid.

"Before Davy could get away from the 'Stars and Stripes,' Swan slipped over to the 'Salt Lake' saloon and told everybody about Davy's luck in the raffle. In the 'Salt Lake' Swan found Judge Haskell, who had in tow a party of capitalists from New York, all wanting to buy mines. Judge Haskell hated old Davy Jones, like the rest of us, and, says he to Swan, 'I'll work old Jones, you bet. After he'd given me a good grip, says he—

"'For Jones, when he managed to wriggle out of the 'Stars and Strips,' ran plump into the arms of Judge Haskell, who was lying in wait for him; and the judge, saying he wanted Jones to meet his Eastern mine-buyers, and suggesting they might buy one of Jones' prospect-holes, hurried the 'lucky man' into the 'Salt Lake' saloon.

"And when he did introduce Davy Jones to those New York capitalists, it was as the luckiest man in Utah, who'd just won a $500 watch on a $1 raffle ticket, and was now, to celebrate his luck, agoing to set up drinks for every man in the house.

"Of course, Jones was kicking himself awful on the inside, but outside—wanting to sell a mine to Judge Haskell's friends—he had to smile and order drinks for everybody. This second round of drinks cost Davy Jones about $50 more hard cash. Early next morning he hunted up, and, says he—

"'Cameron was taken yer—d—d old watch! It's cost me $60 drinking me luck already; if I keep it another day I'll go broke.'

"'Keep it yourself,' said I. 'Do you take me for a fool? I'll take my watch back if the boys will bust me with buying drinks over my luck in getting a gold watch for nothing. It would cost me $50 in cash if I took that ticker back.'

"Old Davy Jones knew he'd skinned me once, and saw I'd got him now in a tight corner, for, if I passed the news of his luck around the hill camps, he'd either have to spend a thousand dollars drinking his good luck or quit the country.

"The end of it all was that old Davy Jones paid me $50 in cash to take back the watch he won the night before. I've still got the watch, boy. If I get up another raffle, do you want a ticket?'

"'No, thanks,' said I. 'Don't want nothing to do with watches that cost $1000 to get rid of.—The Sketch.

MAKING AND MENDING.

Some Useful Recipes for the Housewife and Jack-of-All Trades.

MOTH PREVENTER.—According to the Neueste Erfindungen und Erfahrungen, the following makes a splendid moth preventer:

Spanish pepper	100 parts
Turpentine oil	50 parts
Camphor	25 parts
Clove oil	10 parts
Alcohol 95 per cent	300 parts

Cut the Spanish pepper into little bits, and pour over them the alcohol and oil of turpentine. Let stand two or three days, then decant, and press out. To the liquid thus obtained add the camphor and clove oil, let stand a few days, then filter and fill into suitable bottles. To use, imbibe bits of bibulous paper in the liquid and put them in the folds of clothing to be protected.

TO MEND WHITE PORCELAIN.—Add to a good thick mucilage of gum arabic sufficient plaster of paris to make a thick cream, and apply it with a brush to both edges of the object to be mended, join the pieces and bind them together, you will have a joint that will (if neatly done) almost defy detection, and which will be both fire and water proof, in the bargain.

LIQUID FOR ETCHING OR WRITING ON GLASS.—

Sodium flouride	36 parts
Potassium sulphate	7 parts
Distilled water	500 parts

Mix.

Zinc chloride	14 parts
Acid hydrochloric	65 parts
Distilled water	500 parts

Mix.

Dissolve in separate vessels and mix the solutions only when required for use. Write with a clean quill pen, being careful not to get too much of the liquid on the pen, as there is danger of blotting. The writing, or etching, appears in the course of a half hour.

A GOOD KALSOMINE.—The following makes a brilliant and serviceable kalsomine: Dissolve eight ounces of commercial carbonate of sodium in sufficient hot water (about half a pint), and to the solution, while still hot, add one quart of linseed oil, and saponify by heating and agitation. Put 12 ounces of white glue in a vessel, cover with cold water, and let stand over night. In the morning pour off the residual water, then set the vessel in a pot of water and heat until the glue is dissolved. Add the saponified oil, mix thoroughly by agitation, then remove from the fire and stir in 10 pounds of Spanish whiting, adding a little at a time, and under constant stirring, and adding hot water (not quite boiling, however, as a boiling temperature destroys the tenacity of the glue) from time to time as the mixture grows thick. Finally add sufficient hot water, until a liquid that flows freely from the brush is obtained. The addition of a little liquid wash-bluing adds intensity to the white of the wash. We can give this kalsomine our personal indorsement, as the best we have ever seen.

FIRST-CLASS FURNITURE POLISH.—The following makes the best furniture polish we have ever used. If sufficient care and "elbow grease" be given to its application, it will put a piano finish on old furniture:

Shellac, best quality orange	1000 parts
Rosin	60 parts
Venice turpentine	200 parts
Alcohol (96 degrees)	3000 parts

Mix and put in a warm place, giving frequent agitations until the gums and resins are dissolved. Let stand for four weeks, or until completely limpid, then decant. Apply like French polish.

COSMETIC SOAP FOR HANDS.—A druggist to whom we gave the following, a number of years ago, established quite a local reputation on it:

Powdered white castile soap	3 parts
Fresh lemon juice, strained	3 parts
Cologne water	3 parts
Patchouli	1 part

Mix thoroughly, setting the vessel in which the mixture is made in a larger one containing hot water. The addition of a little essence of musk (not too much) improves the odor. Press into molds and let harden. Wrap in paraffined paper and cover with tin foil—or a creamy substance may be made by the addition of a little water, and the product put up in collapsible tubes.

SUMMER JOYS.

She is buying lots of dresses,
And if asked, she shy confesses
That she's getting all things ready for a summer by the sea;
She is leaving peace and quiet,
For the heat and dust and riot
Of a 2-by-4 apartment in a caravanserie!
Now, I never could see reason
Why we spend the heated season
In a place as hot as hades when it cooler is at home;
Why we stand for fuss and feathers,
When the close and muggy weather's
So much worse than we'd experience if we should never roam.
But I reckon it's the fashion
To go 'way to heat and passion,
Just to get a little tan on so that folks in envy'll say:
"She is home from Narragansett;
She has had a fine trip, I'll bet!
Oh, I wish that for the summer I could only go away!"
Well, let other folks enjoy it;
As for summer, I'll employ it,
Just a swinging in a hammock that is hung up in the shade;
With a pipe, a book, a pitcher,
Filled up full of cooling mixture,
And a straw that stands inviting, in a well-spiked lemonade.

NEWSPAPER SAYINGS.

"Funston's Boys."

From the San Francisco Chronicle of a Year Ago.

Most of the Kansans are the newest recruits, and the drilling of them will require limitless patience. They are blonds, chiefly, with brown skins and light hair, the one burned by the sun, the other bleached. Their eyes have a far-away look, as of men who remember the grasshopper, the army worm and other things that make life tough in Kansas. They do not look the sort of men to be afraid. There are whole companies of them who do not know the meaning of a single command.

"As a rule," writes Whitman, one of Missouri's brave boys who is serving with the famous Twentieth Kansas, "They had a trench dug about five feet deep and eight feet wide, and the dirt from the trench was carried back about 10 feet and piled up against bamboo poles sharpened at the upper ends and so close together it was extremely difficult to get over them. It was evidently their intention to stay behind these breastworks until we got right up to them, then they could kill us before we could get over the first ditch and get over the sharpened bamboo poles. But they could not stand the fire of the artillery."

True Prosperity.

From the Scranton Times.

The Window Glass Trust has given orders and June 1 all but one-tenth of the mills in the combine shut down indefinitely, and the balance of the mills will close down June 30. Thus to restrict production 17,000 skilled workmen are thrown out of employment without a thought or care by the trust managers whether they starve or not.

FILIPINO TRENCHES.

"We found the trenches in front of Malolos, deserted by the insurgents on our approach, the best we had ever seen," writes William Whitman, one of Missouri's brave boys who is serving with the famous Twentieth Kansas. "They had a trench dug about five feet deep and eight feet wide, and the dirt from the trench was carried back about 10 feet and piled up against bamboo poles sharpened at the upper ends and so close together it was extremely difficult to get over them. It was evidently their intention to stay behind these breastworks until we got right up to them, then they could kill us before we could get over the first ditch and get over the sharpened bamboo poles. But they could not stand the fire of the artillery."

The McCann Case.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The case of John J. McCann, who is resisting what he honestly considers legalized robbery, is most important, and I am pleased to see that its importance is realized by at least one paper—the Post-Dispatch. The other papers are certainly aware of the important bearing this case has on the general question of taxation, but they are evidently, as usual, dodging such issues, and taking care not to excite discussion. They well know that the truth does not fear discussion, but they also know that those who profit by legalized robbery fear the discussion of the truth. "More power" to the Post-Dispatch and John J. McCann.

Another Sprinkling Complaint.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Will you please inform me how often Arsenal street between King's highway and Macklind avenue is supposed to be sprinkled daily? At present it is sprinkled twice—at 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Between these hours there is no sprinkling, and to keep one's place looking respectable you are compelled to dust every half or every hour. If the above could be remedied in any manner, shape or form, would like to have it done.

Two Dead Dogs.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

There is a dead dog wrapped in a sack lying on Hickory street near Eighteenth street, and also one in the alley between La Salle and Hickory streets near Ohio avenue. What is the matter with the policemen, as these dogs have been lying around for three days and are a nuisance, especially during the hot weather.

Protest From Colored Musicians.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

For two seasons the colored musicians have contracted and played in the City Park, in which six concerts per season were given (the white musicians for some reason were given ten)). The first season it was given out by the official that if the colored musicians would prove their ability that more concerts would be given them in future. The first season was a great success. It was reported by the park keepers that the colored musicians demonstrated their ability by catering to the largest numbers. It was mentioned by some of the Eastern papers that St. Louis gives an opportunity to negro musicians, such as was never given them by any other city in the country.

But, alas, the Musicians' Union, which has for its object seemingly to keep the negro back, has stepped in and planned a scheme which prohibits the negro from furnishing music in the city parks.

The writer has reasons to believe that the M. M. B. A. are responsible for the new ordinance making the French horn, oboe and bassoon requisite instruments to procure equal opportunities of playing in the city parks. The M. M. B. A. is aware of the fact that negro musicians of this city are not up on these instruments and they have planned this scheme to compell all bands to have them, which, of course, has kept the colored musicians out of the park.

Mayor Jones and the Trusts.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I see by your valuable paper that Mayor Jones of Toledo, O., is to deliver an address at the Olympic Theater in this city on Saturday evening, June 10. I hope the citizens of St. Louis will give him a most enthusiastic reception.

If any movement is ever to be set on foot for the purpose of counteracting the influence of these trusts and large combinations of capital, it is quite time that we begin to think about it. These trusts are now only in their infancy, yet they are gigantic in proportions and wield a power that few Empires can boast of. They own or control nearly every municipal assembly, every State Legislature, and it is generally believed they have full sway in the halls of Congress and with our Federal Judiciary.

They have now entered many and will soon occupy all fields of useful and profitable employment. Soon they will be in possession of every avenue of wealth, closing every chance for advancement to all the millions except those who are willing to sell their lives, their souls, for their benefit.

They have become vast profit-making machines, into which the flower of manhood and womanhood are thrown, ground to pulp and the very elixir of life, coined into dimes and dollars to [illegible] insatiable greed of these [illegible]

MANSIONS CONDEMED,

OLD HOUSES OF COLLINS STREET ORDERED DEMOLISHED.

THEY WERE ONCE STYLISH.

Half a Century Ago They Were in the Center of Luxury—Now They Are the Abodes of Dire Poverty.

Perched on top of a high embankment at Collins and Mullanphy streets stands a row of houses, which have looked down upon the development of St. Louis during more than half its life.

They have seen the neighborhood which they once graced by their proud situation pass from fashion to commonness and from commonness to squalor. Within their walls many families have lived. Swells at first, then persons of moderate means; then poor persons.

And now they are to be torn down, by order of Building Commissioner Randall.

In fact, Mrs. O'Reagan says the houses must not be torn down at all.

"Oh, no, dearie," she says, "it won't do at all, at all. I can't have it. I'm not able to move. And who did you say is the wicked man that is doin' all this? Mr. Randall? Well, I'll go see Mr. Randall. I can't have this, not at all. Haven't I lived here two years? I'm a yearly tenant, I am, and they can't put me out without legal notice."

"How much rent do you pay, Mrs. O'Reagan?"

"Sure and I pay none at all. I haven't paid any rent for a long time. But they can't put me out without legal notice."

Thus did Mrs. O'Reagan declare her rights and her undying determination to stand by them. She said many more things, for she is a very voluble person, desiring to entertain a visitor to the best of her ability. And while she talked she flourished a large knife, half of whose blade was rendered useless for business purposes by a big nick.

The rest of the tenants are of like mind with Mrs. O'Reagan, but she is the most voluble of them. The others have little to say; they are looking despair in the face.

The neighbors in surrounding houses are delighted that the old houses are to be torn down. They are wary of much talk on front doorsteps, having learned from experience the danger of free expression of opinion within earshot of the tenants on the hill.

"Whist," said one, rolling his eyes toward the crazy row on the hill, "be keerful how you talk. But (in a whisper) them back yards is awful. Just you go and look for yourself."

The reporter did go and look for himself, but was assailed by such an army of vile odors that he retreated after a glance at the array of tumble-down sheds and filthy back yards.

The houses in the row that are to be torn down are numbers 1446, 1448 and 1450 Collins street. Numbers 1442 and 1444 are in the same row and are part of the same building, but they are owned by their present tenants, who have kept them in a semblance of repair and cleanliness as to back yards. So they will not share the fate of their taree fellows on the north.

The row was built at a time when Collins street was not cut through. They were then on the side of the bluff that rose from the river. When Collins was open and graded, it became necessary to protect the front of the houses with walls. They are probably 30 feet above the street and are approached by crazy old wooden stairways that threaten the climber with instant destruction. Steps are missing here and there, making flying leaps necessary while making the ascent or descent.

Twenty-two persons will have to move and worse still will have to resume the addition of rent-paying, when the houses are torn down.

WILL SUE HIS MOTHER-IN-LAW.

J. H. Foley Resents His Recent Arrest in St. Louis.

J. H. Foley, sewing machine agent, who was arrested a short time ago on a charge of bigamy, has, it is reported, instituted a suit for $30,000 for defamation of character against his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Vachte of Jacksonville, Ill. This was the former home of Foley, he having moved to St. Louis owing to his inability to live with his wife's mother. The latter, Foley claims, was strongly opposed to his marriage with her daughter and even after it had taken place used all possible efforts to bring about a separation. This being unsuccessful, a baseless tea charge of bigamy was preferred against Foley, on the strength of which he was arrested and put in the St. Louis jail where he remained a week.

The Jacksonville authorities notified Chief Campbell that they would send for Foley, but after waiting for some time, he was released. He immediately started back to his former home, accompanied by his wife, declaring he would enter suit at once as his mother-in-law's action had been prompted only by spite.

HAD TOO MUCH BEER,

NINE-YEAR-OLD WILLIE BURKE STAGGERING DRUNK.

HE IS NOW IN THE HOSPITAL.

He Poked Capt. Reynolds in the Ribs and Said It Was His Last Offense.

The strangest character seen around the Four Courts in many a day was Master Willie Burke, who was cruising around in the corridors when he was captured by Patrolman Kaiser.

Willie is a miniature "Cupid" Childs in appearance, only he is a little fatter than that able second baseman. He is about 2½ feet tall and much bigger around. He was barefooted and was unsteady on his feet. His round face was oldish, dirty and there was a big bump on his forehead. He had fallen and come in sharp contact with the pavement. His trousers were of the knee species and were attached to a gingham waist by a row of buttons.

Willies' face was old-looking and solemn. When Patrolman Kaiser accosted him the strange little fellow looked up at the big policeman with solemn mien, but kept up a swaying motion with his short body. Whenever he stood still for a moment he would lose his balance and roll over.

The policeman could not a first believe that so little a fellow was drunk, but he took him downstairs to Capt. Reynolds.

"What's your name, my little man?" the captain asked.

Willie was shy for a moment, then walked up to the captain and poked him in the ribs and with a knowing wink said:

"I won't do it again."

"What's your name?"

Another long pause, and then, confidentially:

"Willie Burke."

"Where do you live?"

"Sixt' street, 'tween Cass and O'Fallon."

"Take him over to the Dispensary," said Capt. Reynolds to Kaiser.

Dr. Helwig looked at his strange visitor in surprise. The boy stood the gaze without flinching.

"What have you been drinking, Willie?" asked the doctor.

"I'll tell you if you won't do anything to me," the boy replied.

"All right, my boy," said the doctor. "I am your friend. What did you drink?"

"Beer."

"How much beer did you drink?"

"A whole lot."

Other questions were put and he was asked where he got his beer, but he could not or would not answer.

Dr. Helwig said the boy was intoxicated and forwarded him to the City Hospital. Willie is about 9 years old, the doctor said. The ambulance drivers say they have seen Willie around Twenty-third and O'Fallon streets many times. He is still at the hospital.

THE SUMMER SHOWS.

A new matinee idol has risen in St. Louis. He is greeted with tumultuous applause when he comes upon the stage, his every movement is greedily followed and when he bows himself through the L. 2 E. the hand-clapping is resumed with tremendous energy and dainty handkerchiefs are waved on the balmy afternoon air. His mail is burdened with tender missives and little knots of girls stand about the garden awaiting his appearance after the show. And the strangest thing is that all of this odoriferous attention is directed to a man who appears in black-face only. There is only one way to account for Carroll Johnson's sudden advent as matinee favorite; the girls have seen his pictures and know what he looks like when clothed in his right mind and other clothes. When they alight from a car at the Suburban the first thing that meets their gaze is a big frame with a dozen or so of Johnson's best photographs. Moreover, he dances so gracefully that if they had overlooked the photographs they would be fired with a desire to see him in street attire. And Johnson gives them a dance, although his wife spends much of her time in the Garden and sees to it that he observes good hours.

Kelly and Violette, a singing team, are the hit of the week at the Highlands, Kelly's excellent baritone being matched by his pretty partner's skill at slipping rapidly into becoming costumes and enhancing the charm of each selection by a graceful dance. The Gypsy Quintette, with the aid of picturesque surroundings, sings famous old songs. Howard's ponies are popular with the ladies and children at the afternoon performances. Other good cards on the week's bills are duly appreciated by Col. Hopkins' patrons, who have found the Highlands very delightful these warm nights. Friday night the Fitzsimmons-Jeffries contest will be reported by rounds from the Highlands stage.

An excellent hot weather bill is being presented at Koerner's Park this week, while the cool breezes that sweep through the park are a source of pleasure to the crowds in attendance. Among the most pleasing acts are those of Bronson and Lewis, society entertainers; J. F. Green and Lillian Durham, in "A Bit of Irish Wit;" Mat Farnum, dancer; Hadj Lessik, gun manipulator; Willie Hale, expert on the revolving globe; the five Bicketts, aerial performers, and Cole's troupe of dog actors.

Uhrig's Cave is attracting a goodly percentage of the crowd of summer amusement seekers. "Way Down Yonder" as presented by the Williams & Weinberg stock company, has proved a palatable comedy bill of fare this week, and Prof. Sim's Mandolin Orchestra has been the magnet which has kept crowds in the garden after the performance. Beginning at the matinee Sunday the stock company, in which Nat Goodwin successfully starred, "Turned Up," and on Thursday evening, June 15, a grand complimentary benefit will be given in aid of the Widows and Orphans' Fund of the Sixth Missouri Regiment, United States Volunteers.

Manager Ernest's minstrel show pleases the patrons of Manion Park nightly. The performance has been so smooth from the first that some surprise was expressed. The explanation is that all the singers, the orchestra and some of the end men belonged to West's Minstrels last season. Having worked together before they needed practically no rehearsing. Frank Cushman seems to be the favorite with the audiences. The minstrels will have a new first part next week.

J. C. Stewart and his company are presenting "The Two Johns" at Bellevue Garden. In addition, Dave Foy delivers a monologue and there are shadowgraph pictures.

Lawrence Hanley, Edmund Lyons, Nellette Reed and others are rehearsing "Caste," in which they will begin a season at the Olympic Sunday.

The Alex Spencer Opera company will foregather at Uhrig's Cave Saturday and begin rehearsals for the opening performance of "The Daughter of the Regiment," to be given at the Cave, June 18.

At the Columbia Theater this evening detailed accounts of the Fitzsimmons-Jeffries contest will be announced from the stage.

New Police Order.—Chief Campbell has ordered that no police officers secure entrance to pleasure resorts on the authority of their stars. Uniforms must be worn at all times unless permission to don citizen's garb is given.

HAVE COME TO ST. LOUIS.

Large Business House Removed From New Orleans.

The Dwyer Bros. Mercantile Co., for many years one of the leading business concerns of New Orleans, has transferred its headquarters from that city to St. Louis. It has reincorporated under the Missouri laws with a capital stock of $250,000.

The company will have a branch house in New Orleans but St. Louis will be the point of distribution for the bulk of its business. A member of the firm says the reason for removing from New Orleans is that two of the best business months of the year are practically lost there on account of the annual yellow fever scare.

OFFICIAL'S EARLY TROUBLES.

Street Commissioner Varrelman and Sprinkling Inspectors.

Street Commissioner Varrelman is finding his early troubles in the street sprinkling department.

He ruled recently that all sprinkling inspectors should faithfully perform their duties or be discharged.

It is alleged that all did not obey this order. Friday the subject came up in the Board of Public Improvements meeting in the shape of a communication from J. Becker of 2210 Keokuk street. Mr. Becker told the Board that his street had never been sprinkled regularly.

He said often a week would pass without sprinkling, sometimes the dust was laid once or twice a week. The Board turned the letter over to the Street Commissioner with the recommendation that he take immediate action. This Mr. Varrelman promised to do.

A QUESTION OF PRESSURE.

Plumbing Done in the New Lincoln Trust Building.

A new plumbing ordinance may grow out of the action of the Board of Public Improvements Friday against James J. Wade & Sons, plumbers.

They did the work in the new Lincoln Trust Co. and the Supervisor of Plumbing reported that instead of using heavy lead pipe, as required by ordinance, iron tubes were put in. The plumbers declared that lead would not stand the pressure necessary to supply the building with water.

The subject was referred to a committee, which recommended that the Wades comply with the ordinance inside of five days, otherwise more heroic measures would be taken. The board decided that under the law it had to support the ordinances, and indorsed the finding of the committee.

PROVIDENT SOCIETY AID.

It Has Been Extended to the Family of George Carroll.

The Post-Dispatch received a letter Thursday signed by J. Neal and containing the information that George Carroll and family of 1516 Singleton street were in want of the necessaries of life. The letter was referred to Dr. Thomas M. Finney, general manager of the St. Louis Provident Association.

The following letter, showing that the case received the association's immediate care, was received Friday from Manager Finney:

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 8, '99.

To the Editor Post-Dispatch.

We received in a Post-Dispatch envelope this morning a letter signed "J Neal," and addressed to "Post-Dispatch Reporter," calling attention to the case of George Carroll, at 1516 Singleton street, as needing help.

This case is one that has been on our books since Jan. 5, 1890, and was helped by the association during the whole of last winter and up to April 4, the last aid being given at that date in shape of a load of coal. We provided them with coal and groceries during that time and also furnished clothing and paid their rent several times, until at time mentioned, when they informed us that they would need no more help, and have heard nothing from them since. We have visited them to-day and have delivered a supply of provisions to them. The father was sent to St. Mary's Hospital yesterday. Has not been able to work for last three weeeks. We will look after them, and if in need they will make their application direct to us. One daughter has been at work earning $3 per week, but is at home temporarily with an attack of malaria.

Thanks for your co-operation in referring the case to us. Respectfully,

T. M. FINNEY, General Manager.

TWO GIRLS IN BAD COMPANY.

Georgie and Annie Miner of Bonne Terre Arrested.

Georgie and Annie Miner, country girls, aged respectively, 19 and 16 years of age, were arrested Thursday night in a raid on the wineroom connected with Rothschild's saloon, at Sixth and Elm streets, with three other whomen, who, the police allege are disreputable. The elder girl was later released, but Annie, the younger, was placed in charge of Police Matron Kintzing, in the hope that her family at Bonne Terre, Mo., would send for her. The girl says this is improbable, as her parents are very poor. She says she and her sister came to St. Louis about four weeks ago in the hope of bettering their condition. They got work, but were forced to quit owing to the sickness of one of the girls. Afterward they could not again find employment.

IMPORTANT PERMIT ISSUED.

South Side Citizens Will Improve Ann and Allen Avenues.

The Board of Public Improvements Friday recommended for passage two street improvement ordinances and granted one important permit.

Rutger street is ordered paved with vitrified brick between Spring and Tiffany avenues, at a cost to the city of $77, and to the property owners, $2997.

Cottage avenue is to be graded between Newstead and Taylor avenues.

The permit was for extensive improvements in South St. Louis. The property owners asked permission to pave, at their own expense, Allen and Ann avenues, between Eighteenth street and Jefferson avenue; Missouri and McNair avenues, between Geyer and south line of Allen's Lafayette Park Addition, Jules street, Indiana and Lemp avenues, between Ann avenue and south line of Allen's Lafayette Park Addition, and to reconstruct Geyer avenue between the Southern Electric Railway track and south line of Geyer avenue, between Mississippi and Missouri avenues.

ALLEGED FALSE AFFIDAVIT.

Mrs. Emma Gabriack in Trouble With the Government.

The case of Mrs. Emma Gabriack of 2248 South Jefferson avenue, who is charged with having made false affidavit in connection with a pension claim, was before United States Commissioner Gray Friday. The preliminary examination was set for next Tuesday. Mrs. Gabriack's bond was fixed at $400.

Upon the death of her mother, who was a pensioner, Mrs. Gabriack made affidavit that she left nothing to pay for the burial expenses, whereupon she paid the bill, amounting to $28.40, and was subsequently reimbursed by the Government.

It is now claimed that Mrs. Gabriack's mother was worth $3200 when she died.

SETTLED OUT OF THE COURT.

Mrs. Mary M. White Withdrew Her Petition for Divorce.

Judge Zachritz dismissed the petition of Mary M. White for a divorce from Charles Edward White Friday at the plaintiff's request.

The petition was filed last March, and charged a great variety of indignities. But Mrs. White wrote to Judge Zachritz that she had settled her troubles with her husband amicably and was living happily with him.

Snow's Crop Report.

By Wire to A. C. Petri.

"Winter wheat harvest will be under way next week. No particular change in situation and no reason for expecting better results than have been heretofore indicated. Spring wheat prospects fully maintained, and with no future lowering of condition, crop result might equal that of last year. A conservative total crop indication is 550,000,000 bu. The average crop of the past six years, by commercial estimates, is 533,000,000 bu, and the average of official estimates is 493,000,000. The average exportation for the past six years is 170,000,000 bu. With the 100,000,000 bu of old wheat which will be carried over July 1, there will be available, should present prospects materialize, 650,000,000 bu, or enough to meet all domestic requirements, supply an average export demand and leave stocks larger on July 1, 1900, than was so held July 1, 1898.

"Corn cultivation has been further delayed during past week and the stand is very ragged. It is too early, however, for any reasonable apprehension as to final crop results."

The Modern Miller's Outlook.

The wheat harvest has progressed rapidly throughout Texas, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Georgia, and is now on in Arkansas, Southern Kentucky and Southern Kansas. Premature ripening is reported from Missouri and Illinois. Oklahoma and Texas are the only States harvesting an average yield. Flour has been in only fair demand. Early in the week offerings abroad were accepted, but since the break in wheat only limited business has been booked. The Modern Miller's annual winter wheat crop report is now in course of preparation. It will be based on answers from correspondents dated June 7 to June 10, and will be issued as early next week as full returns can be compiled.

THE MARKETS.

MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, June 9.

This morning's market was easy at the opening and traders seemed in the main bearish, though they did not seem to think it worth while to depress prices to any great extent. The realizing was practically over and there was not the same fitful selling which has marked the earlier portions of recent sessions.

The opening was practically unchanged. Shortly after the first sale the market weakened very slightly and lost ⅛c, which it started to make up immediately afterwards on light buying by scalpers.

Cables came lower, Liverpool showing a loss of ⅛@¼d over night. Other foreign news might have had a bullish effect but for the deterrent action of advices from domestic wheat-growing districts, nearly all of which contained intimations of better promise for the winter crop.

The Government crop report will be posted to-morrow, the 10th, at 2 p. m., instead of 3 p. m., as heretofore.

The report will show the acreage of spring wheat, rye, oats and barley, and the average condition of spring wheat, winter wheat, rye, oats and barley; also spring pastures.

The Weather—Showers to-night or Saturday, followed by clearing.

Showers occurred in the Mississippi and Missouri Valleys, the Ohio Valley and Rocky Mountain region. It is cooler except in the New England States and Northwest, where there has been a slight rise.

WHEAT.

To-day's session was almost a record-breaker in point of dullness. The market had spring fever. At times the pit was practically deserted and at one time the market remained unchanged for nearly an hour.

Cables were all lower and foreign markets were as dull as the domestic ones.

Bearish news predominated, although advices as to Russian famine were again in evidence.

A special from Odessa said: "Still no rain; barometer rising. Showers in the upper Dneiper Valley."

Argentine shipments for the week were 1,656,000 bushels, compared with 1,504,000 bushels last week and 264,000 bushels last year.

July opened at 76⅜c, 1-16c above yesterday's close. Movements were extremely slow. On light selling there was a decline to 76c, but the market quickly strengthened to 76¼@76½c, later dropping back to 76c.

Receipts of wheat at primary points to-day were 767,961 bushels, as compared with 185,000 bushels same date last year.

Shipments 343,118 bushels, compared with 94,000 bushels same date last year.

During the last half of the session the market dropped to 75½c, and continued weak, though efforts were made to advance it. It closed at 75⅝@75¾c.

CORN.

The market was almost a blank and speculative dealing in this grain did not appeal to the pit traders. July opened at 32⅞@33c b, and was later offered at 32⅝c, with no takers. September was held at 33⅛c at the opening, but later sold at 33c.

Receipts of corn at primary points to-day were 746,315 bu, as compared with 738,000 bu same date last year. Shipments, 697,022 bu, compared with 875,000 bu same date last year.

Receipts of corn at St. Louis to-day were 85,500 bu, compared with 87,255 bu same date last year. Of these 24 cars were local, compared with 402 sacks and 33 cars same date last year.

OATS.

Nobody cared to take slow profits on this grain. September had 20⅝c bid at the opening. Later it sold at 20⅝c.

Receipts of oats at St. Louis to-day were 19,200 bu, compared with 26,550 bu same date last year. Of these 12 cars were local, compared with 270 sacks and 21 cars same date last year.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

CHICAGO, June 9.—Trading in wheat to-day was characterized by almost a holiday business. Everybody was apparently waiting for the Government crop report, which will be given out to-morrow afternoon, and the almost unanimous belief that it would be bearish in tone kept buyers out of the market. The opening was unchanged from yesterday's closing figures, July starting at 74⅞@75c. This price was maintained for only a short time. Favorable weather reports from the Northwest were accompanied by free offers to sell, and the market was on too fragile a foundation to stand up under any amount of liquidation. Prices slowly declined in consequence, July getting down to 74⅜@74½c. Buying against puts caused a rally to 74⅝@74¾c. This buying over, however, the prices sold off again, touching 74½c. Northwest receipts were liberal, Minneapolis and Duluth reporting 550 cars, compared with 538 last week and 221 a year ago. Chicago receipts were 86 cars, 3 of contract quality. Argentine shipments were 1,088,000 bu corn, and oats almost at a standstill. As with wheat the Government crop report was apparently the restraining influence and very little trading of consequence was done. Both markets were inclined to easiness. July corn opened unchanged at 33⅞c, sold at 33¾@34c, and eased off to 33⅝@33¾c. Receipts were 561 cars. July oats opened unchanged at 23⅜@23½c and declined to 23¼c. Receipts were 216 cars. Hogs—Receipts were liberal and yard prices lower, and this gave a tone of easiness to provisions. No trading of consequence was done. July pork opened unchanged at $8.17½ and eased off to $8.15. July lard opened a shade lower at $5.00@5.02½. July ribs a shade lower at $4.65.

Wall Street.

NEW YORK, June 9.—The movement of prices was conflicting at the opening, the principal activity being shown in the specialties, Brooklyn Transit, Rock Island, Manhattan and Anaconda rose sharply, the latter 1⅝. Continental Tobacco dropped away over a point and Steel and Wire, after a fractional gain, fell away over a point. Sugar also turned downward after a small opening gain.

Inability to force out long stock in the general market caused a reversal of operations by the professionals, and prices were bid up strongly all around. The local municipal stocks were the favorites, and buying of Manhattan and Transit was unusually heavy. Third Avenue rallied 7 points, after dropping 5. The Western railroads lagged somewhat, but the Pacifics and Southwesterns rose substantially. Sales of stocks to noon, 249,913 shares.

Dealings in bonds were generally at improved prices.

The short interests became alarmed at yesterday's exhibition of strength and diversified dealings which seemed to indicate inside support and renewed outside demand. Accordingly stocks were in urgent demand at the outset and Sugar and Metropolitan were marked up 3, Manhattan 2⅛, and Brooklyn Transit 1½. Good gains were also shown by the standard stocks and minor properties. The demand fell off after a time and the market developed a pronounced sagging tendency on professional hammering. Continental Tobacco dropped 2¼ and Sugar 1⅛. The market became dull at the decline.

THE MONEY VANISHED.

DISAPPEARANCE OF COSTS IN A POLICE COURT CASE.

INVESTIGATION BEING MADE.

Neither the City Nor the Person Possibly Entitled to It Got the Missing Money.

City Attorney Perry Post Taylor is investigating the disposition of certain cases in the First District Police Court Monday.

Mr. Taylor says money was paid to a Deputy Marshal and that the money has never reached the city treasury, nor has it been returned to the persons who paid the fines.

Last Saturday night there was a poker game raided at the Hotel Garni, Jefferson avenue and Olive street, and eight players were arrested. They were sent to the Police Court Monday morning. They were represented by Attorney Ashley Clover. The cases were not tried. Five of the eight paid costs and the cases against the others were nolle prossed.

The City Attorney said that the costs were paid to Deputy Marshal Day and that official intimated to the City Attorney that costs were paid before the cases were announced disposed of.

Afterwards Mr. Taylor learned that three of the five cases that have been dismissed on costs were marked "G. B." on Judge Peabody's docket. This entry shows that only the costs in two cases reaches the city treasury. Mr. Taylor inquired and learned that though the costs had been stayed the money was not returned to the men who were fined. There is a discrepancy somewhere, says Mr. Taylor, and the city is being kept from fees that rightfully belong to it.

A reporter spoke to Mr. Day about the matter.

"I received the money in those cases," said Mr. Day. "There is nothing unusual about it. The Judge ordered me to return the fees in some of the cases, and I returned it. I don't know who the man was that I returned the money to. There are so many people paying fines that I don't know them by name nor sight.

"I know that I am clean in this matter —that is all there is to it."

Judge Peabody was asked about the case. He did not recall it. He said that in some cases he had stayed fines and costs, and he could not state what had been done in this particular instance.

CLIMATE AND CROPS OF CUBA.

Weather Bureau's First Report on the Subject.

The Post-Dispatch received on Friday a copy of one of the first reports of the Climate and Crop Service of the Weather Bureau on Cuba. The report is dated May 29, and was printed at Havana in English and Spanish.

Summarizing, the report says the weather for the week ending May 29 was generally beneficial to crops on the island, but rains are still needed to admit of sowing seed. The maximum temperature was 95 degrees.

SUIT FOR BODY OF HIS SON.

Remains of George Pearce Will Be Buried at Barry, Ill.

George W. Pearce of Barry, Ill., telegraphed the Coroner Thursday to forward the body of his son, George Pearce, who committed suicide by asphyxiation in the Ridgeway Hotel, this city, last Wednesday afternoon.

The father was at a loss to explain his son's action, except on the score of ill-health. The elder Pearce is quite wealthy and a short time ago had furnished his son with $3000, with which to open a store in Las Vegas, N. M. But he was forced to give this up after a brief time, being unable to stand the strain of business life. Pearce was an only child.

YOUNG MEN ORDAINED AT KENRICK SEMINARY.

THE RELIGIOUS CEREMONIES.

Minor Orders Were Bestowed on Other Young Men in the Presence of a Large Crowd.

The Kenrick Seminary, Nineteenth street and Cass avenue, was the scene of impressive religious ceremonies Friday morning.

In the presence of a large assemblage composed mostly of women, 18 young men were ordained as priests; sixteen received the degree of tonsure, while minors were bestowed on the others.

The ordination took place in the seminary chapel, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion.

The center altar was a solid mass of flowers.

Beginning at 7 o'clock pontifical mass was celebrated. Archbishop Kain presided at the ceremonies, assisted by the Very Rev. F. V. Nugent, C. M., the Rev. F. J. Maurie, C. M., and Rev. W. H. Musson, C. M.

The following were ordained priests: Revs. O. T. Siesner, P. P. Crane, A. Wigger, G. J. Schmidt, Joseph A. Bonkamp, H. A. Geisert, H. Fabry, all of St. Louis; Revs. Messrs. F. J. Ostendorf and A. J. Stengel of Alton; Rev. Mr. M. P. O'Connor of La Crosse, Wis.; Rev. Messrs. F. Bendoski and F. J. Schaaf of the diocese of Indian Territory; Rev. Mr. J. Wirtz of Dubuque, Ia., and Rev. Mr. J. B. Stackable of Chicago.

The following received minor orders: From St. Louis: Charles H. Evan, Gerard Wick, Ed F. Salland, Thomas J. Lloyd, H. C. Petri, Thomas V. O'Reilly, Charles E. Elnig, George L. Fugel, F. J. Holweck, J. J. Godfrey; from Alton, Mr. M. Simon; from Kansas City, Mo., J. W. Keyes; from Belleville, Mr. D. F. Duggan; from Davenport, Mr. W. J. Quinn; from Dallas, Tex., Mr. J. P. Lynch.

The following received the tonsure: Charles B. Elnig, L. E. Wahlmeir, J. M. Barthel, V. J. McCartney, John Wehner, E. I. Dekat, L. A. Kutz, G. P. Kuhlman, F. W. Smith, John Heiring, W. C. Burke.

The ceremony was conducted with great solemnity and lasted nearly three hours.

Those receiving the degree of tonsure wore on their left arm a folded surplice; those to be ordained to minor orders put on a surplice; the subdeacons wore an amice, alb and cincture and carried on the left arm a manipie; those ordained as deacons put on an amice and wore a maniple on the left arm on which they also carried a stole folded; those ordained to the priesthood wore an amice, cincture and maniple on the left arm, a stole on the left shoulder, carried a chasible folded on the left arm and had a white linen handkerchief fastened to the cincture for the anointing. Each carried a lighted candle in the right hand.

The Bishop and Archdeacon called all those who were to receive the orders, saying: "Let all who are to be ordained come forward."

The ordinands kneeled in a semi-circle around the altar.

The Archdeacon then turned to those to be ordained and in the name of the Bishop said:

"The Most Reverend Father in Christ, His Lordship N. by the grace of God and the favor of the Apostolic See, Bishop of N., orders and commands under penalty of excommunication, all and each here present to receive orders, that none of those who may perchance be irregular or excommunicated by the canons or by his superior, or under interdict, or suspended, illegitimate, infamous or otherwise excluded by the canons, or who may be from another diocese by birth, and lacks the permission of his Bishop, and none of those who has not been registered, examined, approved and called by name, shall on any account dare to come forward to receive orders."

He commanded also that none of those ordained should leave until mass was ended and they had received the Episcopal benediction.

The minor degrees were then administered.

After the recital of prayers the Bishop asked each ordained, "Dost thou promise to me and my successors reverence and obedience?"

The answer was "I promise."

Rev. Patrick P. Crane, who received the sacrament of Holy Orders, was one of the most popular young men in St. Malachy's Parish. His parents still reside there.

Prominent clergy from all over the diocese attended.

The recent theological contest at the seminary was decided in favor of John Godfrey. The prize was a set of breviaries, donated by Father Fenlon.

BULLDOGS THAT FIGHT FIRE.

Two Untrained Animals Have a Specialty That Is Altogether Out of the Ordinary.

Down at Mannion Park, just beyond where the green cars either turn into the barn or the conductor makes you pay another nickel, there are a pair of white bulldogs that might well be earning a livelihood for some deserving but tired man, instead of devoting their time to snapping at flies and loafing around the saloon on the corner.

The dogs are named Dynamite and Diana. Their specialty is fighting fire. Diana is the more enthusiastic, but that may be because she is younger than Dynamite, who is full of years and mange. Anyhow she is a fine lady, worth knowing.

Nobody seems to have taught the dogs their specialty; they just picked it up, and the men who stay around the garden keep them in practice.

"Watch 'em now," said a young man who knew the fire-fighting proclivities of the dogs. He set fire to a newspaper and threw it on the floor, then he yelled "fire!"

Both dogs rushed at the burning mass of paper as though it were a rat. Dynamite pawed it and Diana grasped an end that was not burning and shook it. Then she struck the flame with both fore feet, muzzled it and worried it, and finally extinguished it as effectively as a person could. As long as there was a spark in sight those dogs went for it with avidity. When the fire was out they wagged their spiky tails and looked pleased, then went over to the lunch-counter and lay down.

"It's the queerest dog speciality I ever saw," said a man who takes an interest in such things, "and, say, did you ever notice that the dogs that do queer things like that usually are bulldogs or bull terriers? Remember the football dog and the bag-punching dog?"

Excursion.—The St. Louis Drug Clerks' Society enjoyed their annual river excursion on the steamer City of Providence Thursday evening. There were about 2000 persons on board.

WORLD'S FAIR SUBSCRIPTIONS.

Committee of Two Hundred Has Aroused New Enthusiasm.

Wednesday's big meeting of the World's Fair Committee of 200 woke things up, and tangible evidence of renewed activity and interest was shown in the flood of subscriptions that poured in upon Secretary Cox all day Thursday.

These subscriptions were not related in any way to the work of the real estate owners sub-committees, which will report direct to August Gehner, who will in turn report to the committee of 200. These sub-committees went to work with a will Thursday and a harvest of big subscriptions is expected to result.

The subscriptions Thursday, amounting to over $50,000, were from business houses and their employes chiefly.

The outlook is so encouraging that Mr. William H. Thompson, Chairman of the Finance Committee, announces that incorporation papers will be filed as soon as $5,000,000 is subscribed, and he expects this to be not later than the end of this month. The directors of the corporation will be elected at a mass meeting of stockholders and each stockholder will be entitled to one vote for each share he or she holds.

WHEELER AND SCHLEY.

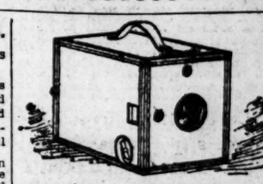

Invited to Attend the St. Louis Fourth of July Celebration.

If the present plans of the Nation's Birthday Association do not miscarry, St. Louis will have a Fourth of July celebration that will linger long in the memory of loyal citizens, particularly the young ones.

At the meeting of the association Thursday afternoon it was determined to invite Gen. Joe Wheeler to be the guest of the city and the orator of the day. All possible influence will be brought to bear upon the General to have him accept the invitation. It was also decided to ask the presence of Admiral Schley in St. Louis at the same time.

The Executive Committee reported that the total amount of funds now in its hands amounted to $1060.

Mr. A. G. Paterson was elected chairman of the General Committee and Col. John W. Campbell, Chief of Police, was appointed grand marshal of the day. Before adjournment several minor details relative to the programme were completed.

A NEW ORDER ON THE SHERIFF.

Judge Klein Directs Reports on Service Be Made in Open Court.

Judge Jacob Klein got after Chief Deputy Sheriff John Pohlman Friday morning and issued a positive order that will tend to improve the service in the Sheriff's office. The order follows:

"It is this day ordered by the court that the Sheriff of the City of St. Louis shall on the first Monday of each month state in open court the exact service on each and every capias issued by this court. And it is further ordered by the court that if the defendant, for whom capias is issued against, has not been apprehended by the Sheriff of said city, the said Sheriff shall make a full statement to the court what the likelihood of the apprehension will be on any and all defendants against whom capiases stand issued."

Failure to make reports on capiases issued has caused much confusion in the courts. Cases would be called for trial and the records would not show whether the defendant was in prison, or was out on bond. Much time would be lost and then it would develop that the arrest had not been made.
